Obituary.

Allen Danforth, former bursar, deputy treasurer and comptroller of Harvard college, died Sunday at the Parker house, Boston, at the age of sixty-three. Born in Plymouth, the son of James A. and Sarah J. Danforth, Mr. Danforth went to Harvard, graduating in the class of 1866 with many men who later became prominent in national and New England affairs.

For six years after his graduation he was engaged in mining operations in Helena, Mont., as the representative of a New York firm. The next two years he served as clerk of the Plymouth Savings bank, being appointed bursar of Harvard in 1874, and moving to Cambridge. For fourteen years he acted as bursar, winning repeated commendation from President Eliot for his systematic handling of the rapidly increasing responsibilities of the post.

In 1888 Mr. Danforth was made deputy treasurer of Harvard college, which position he filled until the post of comptroller of the college was created, when he was the first to fill the office. He resigned his official connection with Harvard in 1906.

He lived several years in Weston, moving to the town of Harvard in 1905. In October, 1906, Mr. Danforth was married to Mabel Irene Walsh, who survives him.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon in Appleton chapel, Boston, Rev. Melvin Brandow of the Unitarian church in Plymouth officiating. The body was cremated and the ashes taken to Plymouth, Mr. Danforth's native town.

WESTFORD.

Center.

Invitations have been received by Westford friends for the marriage of Miss Edith A. Seifer and Elmer Dennis Cole, to take place at the Congregational church in this village, Wednesday evening, August 4, at seven o'clock. The ceremony will be followed by a reception in the church parlors. Miss Seifer has been for some time in Washington, D. C., where she met her prospective husband, but comes back to her girlhood home and the church of her former membership for her wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Merritt spent the greater part of the past week at the home of Mrs. Merritt's uncle in North Pomfret, Vermont.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Woodward are enjoying former pleasant associations and ocean breezes at Rockport. Mr. Woodward formerly taught at the Rockport high school.

The Julian A. Camerons are at their summer home, Chebacus Island.

Mrs. Henry L. McCluskey, who has been assisting in the care of Deacon Wright during his illness for several weeks, returned to her home in Worcester the first of the week.

Mrs. George Foster Barnes of Waltham is a guest at the E. J. Whitneys.

Mrs. J. Henry Colburn is enjoying a two weeks' vacation visiting friends at Boston, Lynn and Revere beach.

The ladies of the Congregational church held a meeting Tuesday afternoon at the vestry to plan for their annual agricultural fair, to be held in September. There was the usual good degree of interest and the appointing of the various committees.

The little three-weeks-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Martin died at their home in the south part of the town the first of this week. The little one was very frail and tiny from birth, and the struggle for existence proved too great. The funeral was held Thursday afternoon. Rev. C. P. Marshall was the officiating clergyman. Interment was in Fairview. A prayer service was also held at the grave. The baby's name was Dorothy Evelyn Martin, having been christened about two weeks ago by Mr. Marshall.

A number of substantial improvements have been made at the Congregational parsonage the last year or two for the comfort and convenience of its inmates. Now a piazza is being built across the entire front of the house, which will be a decided addition. William Sutherland is doing the work. Piazza-building seems especially in his line just now, he having just completed a fine one for Walter J. Merritt.

Struck by Lightning.

During the severe thunder storm last week, Friday afternoon, the house of James Spinner on the Boston road was struck by lightning. It entered the house at the gable tearing off the window casing and plastering in the upstairs room, and breaking several panes of glass in the window, after which it passed down through the floor to the room below, demolishing a picture on the wall and passing out through the side of the house. At first it was thought the house had taken fire, but what was taken for smoke was probably the dust from shattered plaster. An alarm for fire was rung, and was well responded to by the regular firemen and others. This was the second call they had had within a week, in both cases fortunate escapes from more serious injury. Luckily none of the members of the Spinner family were in that part of the house where the lightning struck.

About Town.

Fletcher & Leahy, the Oak Hill stone contractors, Hon. H. E. Fletcher being the leading member of the firm, have the contract for the overhead bridges at Fitchburg, from the Boston and Maine railroad, in discontinuance of grade crossings and have the work well under way. The mere mention of the name of this firm is a guarantee of satisfactory work.

Taylor Bros. have the contract for painting the waiting station of the Lowell and Fitchburg electric railway, at the corner of Lowell and Stony Brook road, and it has already begun to remind the traveller of "the wearing of the green."

The Westford ball team went to Lincoln last Saturday and met one of the best equipped teams in any rural community, and although the Westfords had by far the best of it in the early part of the game, the score standing twelve to blank, an unexpected spurt in batting on the part of the Lincoln team made them the winners by the close margin of 13 to 12.

The many logs in Stony Brook, at Westport station, after having been immersed for several months, are being propelled to shore by man, boat and horse power. They have soaked up a deal of water, but plenty left for everybody else who are inclined that way. Some prefer to soak in something else, even if the town did say thou shalt not.

The Sunday school of the Methodist church at West Chelmsford, which includes Westford corner, Oak Hill, Brookside and various other scattered fragments of rural life not yet large enough to be named village, will take a trolley ride excursion to Canobie lake park Wednesday, July 28. Special rates, special cars and a special good time. "Ho" all who love the Sunday school and a good time, and all who love a good time but don't know whether they love the Sunday school or not, never having tried it, but are a part of the village life and its outlying environments. "All aboard" for Canobie lake. For a bill of particulars, ask some Sunday school scholar.

Henry B. Read had a seriously ill horse last week. The telephone being ill at the same time, he was obliged to summon a veterinary from Lowell by a personal hand-shaking. The horse is better and so is the telephone.

Mrs. Houghton Osgood, who has been confined to the house by illness, is still there; some days better, and some days the better is not better.

Last Sunday at the Unitarian church Rev. B. H. Bailey delivered a strong and logical sermon of the earlier, New England type on "Foundations," deploring the lack of foundations on the part of too many of our youth, and equally deploring the other extreme of willingness on the part of mature life to accept "foundations" the authority of tradition and custom, largely because it is ancient. The reason of man is the telescope in search of truth; let no ancient veil obscure the search. Let no one intrude his authority without reserving the personal right to the personal discovery of truth in rebuttal. This was the last service before vacation, and the church will be closed until the first Sunday in September.

The Westford ball team had an engagement to play the Salem team at Salem today, but on account of the disbanding of the Salem team, there will be no game played, but next week Saturday the Westford team will go to Milford, N. H., and play the crack team of the state. They have played them before and beat them, and played them before with the beat left out. So now won't this game loom up to some one's dream.

Rev. Seth Walker is holding large tent meetings on a vacant lot on Shaw-st., Lowell. As a native of the town, he invites everybody to come down any afternoon and evening, except Saturday and Sunday, when at the tent there is nothing doing, for these are the days when their church on Branch-st. is a-going.

They are coming the lockjaw movement at the "Old oaken bucket" farm on that early "Peep o' day" sweet corn. Owing to the ill health of the weather in May, this movement met with a chilly delay. It was planted on May number one, and in eighty-five days the eating had begun.

Mrs. Sidney Whitney on the Lowell road has boarders from Lowell for the summer. The sidewalk and street makes the display of quite a number. Henry B. Read is adorning Francis hill with utility with his new thrifty apple orchard set out last spring and one year ago. If there is any error it is in their too near neighborliness, an ancient error from Adam's apple orchard to date. Twenty feet apart should be multiplied by two, even if they are the early and small type. Plenty of landscape; why crowd.

The assessors have emerged from their duties so far as to make a formal introduction of the tax collector to the tax payers, clothed with warrants and books of a searching nature. So keep quiet and try and have a satisfied look while he takes your picture; the duplicate proofs of your own action will soon be mailed to you. If dissatisfied with your picture, don't throw dust at the collector. Remember it is the very picture that you ordered last March. It looked smiling then; the approach of payday may tend to make it wear a frown. The collector is not responsible for the change of expression.

The Deer Question.

And now comes word that deer are doing damage to the young apple orchards recently set out on Francis hill. Under the present law a person can shoot deer if you can get near and on the owner's land. But isn't the time watching for deer about as damaging and dear as trimming apple trees by deer? Extermination say some. Oh, yes; and crows, woodchucks and birds, say others. But extermination is not the way to deal with nature, that combines the useful and the beautiful, that is occasionally starved into an assault and battery on the creations of man.

If the principle of extermination were applied to all life that occasionally stops to damage, not even man would be left to say who said so. Pity that we are such brutal ruffians and lacking in foresight, eyesight, that having already come too much of extermination principle on forests, and left a legacy of bushes and briars in their place, we now seek to exterminate useful, ornamental animal life, instead of providing our wasted resources with forests and well-guarded parks. The present law allowing deer to roam and damage the farmer, even with compensation, is not ideal, and "shoot on your own land" means extermination, and extermination is more damaging than roaming. Oh, that we were so rich in cider and saloon, and so poor in parks.

A Candidate.

Alonzo G. Walsh of Lowell has been making an auto visit to his personal friends in town recently. He makes the announcement that he is a candidate from this district for state senator on the republican ticket. The district is a heterogeneous affair, physically and industrially, running from Ayer out into the Atlantic ocean; how far out don't know, don't anybody. Industrially considered, it includes almost everything used in civilization, from whales to white beans, so that a man to properly represent this district should have a sort of heterogeneous ability, or should be much in many directions. Mr. Walsh has had experience in the Lowell board of trade, as chairman of the city committee, as an expert in lines of manufacture, as conversationalist and debater, as private citizen without suspicious action. Nature gifted him for this office. Nearly fifteen years ago, when part of Lowell became part of this district, he was a candidate; not receiving the nomination, he has modestly refrained from pressing his claim. His ability as well as his location should be considered as favorable factors towards his nomination.

The Soldiers' Monument.

Col. Edwin D. Metcalf has written a patriotic letter to the selectmen, informing them of his intention to present to the town a soldiers' monument in memory of those who left their homes from 1861 to 1865 at the call of Abraham Lincoln; also in memory of the pleasant school days passed by Col. Metcalf in Westford. It is his desire to curb and grade the triangular lot suggested by Capt. Fletcher. The monument is to be of Barre, N. H., granite and the figure of a marching soldier to be of United States standard bronze. It is expected to be completed and in position this fall, and dedicated next Memorial day. He appoints Capt. S. H. Fletcher to act as his representative in consultation with the selectmen as representing the town.

The selectmen in reply to Col. Metcalf's generous and patriotic offer, express the usual abundant thanks and courtesies, and add, "It is most appropriate that your native town should accept from so successful a son a soldiers' monument, in memory of those who fought in the war of the rebellion. Particularly is this so, in that your father was the first citizen to volunteer in Westford and the only commissioned officer from Westford in the war." The selectmen also express the hope that when he retires from active business, they will again welcome him back to the home of his boyhood days. Col. Metcalf's father, mother and brother rest in Fairview cemetery, so that the associations of early boyhood days, and school days and enlisting days and cemetery days all combine to make this presentation by Col. Metcalf a memorial on many foundations. The patriotism of those who fought in the war, and the patriotism of this gift should shadow and silence all dissension as to location, inscription and details of procedure.

Graniteville.

Little Lena McCarthy, the nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. McCarthy of this village, fell from the milk wagon of her uncle, John Healy, in which she is the habit of riding each morning, dislocating her right shoulder and injuring the ligaments of the arm. Dr. W. H. Sherman was summoned and attended the injured member, and although the child suffers severe pain at times, no serious results are anticipated. The accident happened about 8.30 o'clock last Saturday morning.

James Harrington and Miss Annie Harrington of Leominster have been recent visitors here.

Mrs. S. H. Armand preached at the Baptist chapel in North Westford on last Sunday and made a good impression.

Many people from this village attended the special memorial services for the late Myron A. Carlin, that were held in Forge Village on last Sunday evening. The services were conducted by Rev. T. L. Fisher of Ayer.

The editor of the Wardsman is to be commended for the excellent halftone photo of Myron A. Carlin that was used in connection with the story of the sad accident and death in a recent issue. It is safe to say that owing to the "speaking likeness," as many expressed it, those papers have been sent to all parts of the country.

The members of Cameron circle, C. F. of A., will hold a social dancing party in Forge Village on Saturday evening, July 24.

Mrs. D. W. Harrington is now taking a well-earned rest at Pleasant View farm in Tyngsboro.

Court Westford, M. C. O. F., will hold a grand gala day at Hillside park, this village, on Saturday, August 7. Base ball games, sports and a dance in the evening.

Baseball.

The Graniteville Blues visited Lowell on last Saturday and met with defeat at the hands of the Crescents by the score of 7 to 5. Both sides batted freely throughout the contest, and the result of the game was in doubt until the last man was out in the final inning. The local club was somewhat handicapped owing to the grass diamond and uneven outfield, but nevertheless played a good game. Gilson of the Blues played a star game both in the field and at the bat, his heavy stick work coming in at just the proper moment. Ledwith also found the ball for a slashing double, and caught his usual clever game. Hanson at third appeared to have an off day, his slip-up on thrown balls being responsible for three runs. His clever catch of a hard liner in the sixth, completing a double play unassisted, partly redeemed his slow work in the early part of the game.

The locals have now lost three games, and it is time they should have awakened to the fact that more team work is needed, and unless more ginger is infused in their work they will find themselves at the bottom in the league standing. Remember, boys, that there are nine men in the club and that the pitcher and catcher cannot do it all.

Carr of the Crescents was in the game all the time, fielding his position finely at short stop, and finding the ball for a clean home run. Howarth started to pitch for the Blues, but owing to a lame arm retired after the first inning in favor of McCarthy. Ledwith, who caught, ran into a post while going after a foul fly, and although he was knocked out for the time being, he pluckily took his place behind the bat and finished the game. The battery work for the Crescents was done by Mooney, McDowell and Dennett, McDowell being held in reserve until the last two innings, which was certainly a clever move.

On Saturday the Blues will play at West Chelmsford, and for the next four Saturdays following the local club will play on the home grounds. Now, boys, get into the game and do your level best, for the village people are with you and want to see you play the game as you are capable of playing it.

Miss Catherine Brown, one of our well-known young ladies, is at the Lowell general hospital, where she underwent a very serious operation for appendicitis. Many friends brighten the long hours of illness by kind remembrances of beautiful floral gifts and also by going to see her as often as is advisable. Miss Brown has always been interested in whatever was for village pleasures. When the young ladies formed a swimming club she was one of the first to make a record by swimming across Forge pond and returning, twice during the season. The pond is about one mile wide. She was also an expert with oars.

Percy Morton and Mr. Harrison of Bridgeport, Conn., are visiting at Fenimore Morton's.

Miss Sabina Newcombe of Worcester was a Sunday visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Brown.

Let the "Blue Bell Sign Remind You

Of the errand you forgot to execute, and a ready way out of the difficulty.

Of the order you were asked to deliver for your firm or for your home.

Of the engagement for which you have been delayed and of the quickest way of explaining your inability to meet it.

Of the call you promised to make, but failed to make through forgetfulness.

Of a hundred ways in which, to use a quaint phrase, you may "Let your head save your heels."

REMEMBER

The sign indicates the presence of a Pay Station.

From any Pay Station you may talk, at a reasonable charge, to any of 290,000 Telephones connected with the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company's system in the four northern New England states.

Also with Telephones in 30,000 cities and towns connected with the Long Distance lines of the great Bell system.

With such convenience at hand is it fair to your friends to "borrow" their telephones? You are liable to impede their channels of communication by making their lines "busy" when others are trying to call them.

HOLLIS.

Collision. There was a collision late Wednesday evening of last week between C. F. Burge's horse and wagon and an automobile operated by Murray Colburn of Nashua, which resulted in a very serious accident. Mr. Burge was driving on the main road from Nashua to Hollis, about three miles from the center of the town. He was accompanied by Mr. Bascom, who lives on that road. They were met by an automobile, which had no headlights on, and as the road is very narrow, there was not room for the two vehicles. The wagon was overturned, both the men thrown out and Mr. Burge was badly hurt about the head and face, with a few minor bruises on other parts of the body. Mr. Bascom broke one knee-cap. The physicians say it is a very serious injury and necessitates his going to the hospital and undergoing an operation. The accident occurred near the bungalow of Dr. A. L. Wallace of Nashua, and fortunately the doctor was there. The neighbors heard the calls of the wounded men and rushed to their assistance. Mr. Bascom was taken to his home, which is nearby. George F. Hill was called by telephone to come after Mr. Burge. He is able to be around, although his face is covered with bandages. Had the headlights been lighted, Mr. Burge would have seen the automobile soon enough to have gotten out of the way.

Tornado Struck Hollis.

The long-continued drought was broken last Friday afternoon with a most disastrous tornado and rain, for South Hollis. From the orchard of F. D. Rogers, near the Pepperell line, to Mrs. E. F. Goodwin's farm, about one mile north, and from the west side of C. J. Bell's farm, to a short distance below the buildings of Andrew Jewett, to the east, there was great damage done to those and intervening farms. As new losses are discovered every day, it is impossible to estimate it at this time, but not less than from one thousand to fifteen hundred dollars.

A great many trees, fruit, chestnut, butternut, walnut, also ornamental oaks and maples were uprooted and split apart, broken at trunks, even at the ground. On C. J. Bell's farm two acres of growing pine timber is laid flat; many large chestnuts torn up by the roots on Pierce Bros. farm, and on both farms many apple and other fruit trees. On Mrs. E. F. Goodwin's farm thirty-one apple trees were wholly or partly demolished. Many valuable apple trees on the George H. Blood farm and on the farms of F. D. Rogers, F. F. Twiss and S. B. Blood. On Andrew Jewett's farm forty-five apple trees are wholly or partly destroyed, uprooted and broken to pieces; also six or seven immense butternut trees and several maples. Many of the apple trees were valuable ones and loaded with apples. On Mrs. Goodwin's farm the roof was entirely blown off her long carriage shed and one corner of the horse barn. At Pierce Bros. part of the roof of their old barn was blown off, and a board with shingles on it was blown across the road and driven into their new barn with such force that it sticks there as one would throw a knife into a board. Their fine new silo, which was built last year and was a model building, strongly and well built, was badly wrecked. Words are inadequate to describe the havoc. The wind lasted two or three minutes. There were some trees broken down further east, but nothing more than often occurs in a shower with strong wind. Grandma Pierce says she never saw anything like it in her life of eighty years. Other citizens, who have lived in the west, say they never saw as much damage done there during a cyclone. The heaviest losers are Pierce Bros., C. J. Bell, Mrs. E. F. Goodwin and Andrew Jewett.

That is the oldest church, and the pastors will have parts in the service, so there will be no other morning service.

A Sacred Bull.

An albino bull, descendant of sacred stock of the Orient, said to be the first of its kind to enter the port of Boston, arrived in Boston Monday, on the Warren liner Michigan. The bull was bred in Aberdeenshire, Scotland, and came from a regal line with a pedigree extending back several hundred years. It is of a handsome cream color and weighs more than 2600 pounds. Alexander Ross, one of the owners, who, fearing to trust the care of it to the ship's crew, made the trip over with the prize himself, values it at two dollars per pound. Though Mr. Ross declared the bull to be the most valuable on American soil, the health officials ordered it sent to the inspection farm at Littleton to pass the remaining forty-nine days of the quarantine. Eleven days were spent aboard ship.

Enjoying Life in England.

Mrs. Grace Lawrence writes from London, England, in glowing terms of her impressions of old England and its people. Although she has been handicapped somewhat by the chilly damp weather and suffered from neuritis, her pleasure totally eclipses the pain. July 8 she started on a motor-cycle tour along the Thames valley, taking in the Henley regatta, a visit to Windsor, Eton, Richmond, Hampton coast, Kingston, Twickenham Ferry, and many of the important places of interest in England. The motor-cycles she speaks of as being very popular in that country, consisting of a side chair attached to the regular machine, which carries only one passenger and the driver of the motor. Owing to the almost perfect condition of the roads, a distance of nearly one hundred miles can be covered daily without fatigue to the passenger.

Littleton friends were pleased to read in the Boston dailies the bequests of the late Mrs. Litchfield of Somerville, and note the sum of $13,000, besides the library, the silverware and choice pieces of furniture bequeathed to Miss Mary Fletcher, daughter of Charles Fletcher, formerly of Littleton. Miss Fletcher has lived for several years with Mrs. Litchfield as companion and manager of finances. Johnson's cottage on the hill back of his residence was struck by lightning and several shingles were torn off. Cooley on the School System. At the final session of the National Council of Education, held July 6, at Denver, Col., Edwin G. Cooley, formerly superintendent of the Chicago public schools, now the president of a Boston school concern, led the discussion of what the American school-boy needs. "While it is the privilege of every American boy to try to become president of the United States," said Mr. Cooley, "it does not follow that it becomes the business of the public school system to fit him for that position. Some of these boys are going to be laborers, mechanics, artisans, something besides president, and right now they are neglected. It has come to pass that we are educating about 2,000,000 boys for the presidency and about 30,000,000 for nothing, because our schools are cramming things into their heads which will be of no use to them when they begin work in the factory or on the farm."

Flowers for the Little Ones. The Boston Journal has inaugurated a novel feature for the children of Boston. It has established a Flower day, when flowers may be brought to The Journal representative, and will be distributed by them to the little ones of the city. The Journal has secured the cooperation of the clergy of greater Boston, the suburban newspapers, the florists and the good people at large. Never before has such an attractive affair of its kind been attempted and the call for co-operation in the project has been answered a thousandfold more enthusiastically than was ever dreamed of. With Boston as a common center flowers will be received on Monday morning between the hours of seven and noon at designated places already established in every city within a radius of twenty miles. Receiving places will also be in readiness at the terminals of both the elevated railway and the steam railroads. Thousands upon thousands of blossoms are needed for the work, and it goes without saying that the children who seldom see the gay warm color of the garden and the green of the fields will thrill and marvel at the beauty and fragrance that will pour into the stuffy and unclean streets of the Boston slums on Monday.

Never Buy a Watch by Mail

Because it can never keep perfect time unless it is adjusted, by a competent jeweler, to the one who is to carry it. A watch that is accurate in one man's pocket fails as a time-piece in another's—so always buy a watch from a retail jeweler. A South Bend Watch Frozen in Solid Ice Keeps Perfect Time Every watch—no matter how costly—must be adjusted to meet individual requirements—even the South Bend Watch, the peer of all. The South Bend Watch is never sold by mail—only through a reliable retail jeweler, who is fully competent to properly adjust it, so it will keep accurate time under all varying conditions. Come in and see a South Bend Watch. We carry a complete line, also of jewelry, silverware, precious stones, etc., and do expert watch repairing. G. H. Bullock, East Pepperell, Mass. GROTON.

Town Meeting.
There was a good attendance at the special town meeting, Thursday evening, July 22. Henry W. Whiting was chosen moderator. The report of the investigating committee on the municipal lighting act for furnishing light, heat and power, was read by M. P. Swallow and was accepted.

Under Art. 2 of the warrant a heavy vote in favor of electric lighting etc., was cast.

Under Art. 3, voted to retain the present committee consisting of M. P. Swallow, H. K. Richards and F. F. Waters, and add two others, J. H. Robbins and George H. Bixby.

Art. 4, voted not to have the substation on the northwest corner of town house lot, but to leave the choosing of position to the committee, the place to be anywhere suitable, but not on town house lot.

Art. 5, voted to borrow a sum of money not to exceed $15,000 at rate of not over 4 1/2 per cent., the same to be paid by a series of notes of $1500 each, payable yearly.

Art. 6, voted to elect at the April town meeting a municipal lighting board to take charge and operate the town lighting.

Arts. 7 and 8, in reference to road commissioners' dumping board and the cleaning out of James brook, were indefinitely postponed.

Improvements.
Were some modern Rip Van Winkle to return to Groton after his sleep of twenty years, more or less emotions of admiration, as well as astonishment, would fill his soul as he noted the changes and improvements in his native town.

These changes, some of them, are due to the progress of the age and speak well for the public spirit of the citizens and the faithful care of the town fathers and other serving officers. Visitors, who, not like old Rip Van Winkle, sleep on, forget and are forgotten, but who come at different intervals to visit here, speak highly in commendation of the beauty of the town, the neatness of the houses and their surroundings, and especially the cleanliness of the streets. Not visiting Groton for several years, they ask, "What have you been doing?" Groton is greatly changed for the better since we last visited the place. How neat and attractive your Main street is, etc.

It is in these particulars of neatness and beautifying that the work of the Village Improvement society shows in the general tasteful appearance of the town. The plots of land, the school yards, etc., which they have cared for, were rough and unsightly before the work began. It is they who, seeding down, have kept these plots smooth as velvet and blossoming with choice shrubs. Their watchful eyes have succeeded largely in freeing our streets of litter. Neatness is contagious. The good work has spread, until now an ill-kept slovenly lawn or yard is a rarity in Groton, especially on our principal streets.

The town is heavily indebted to the persevering work of the society, for its improved condition. Sometimes, perhaps, too little encouragement is shown or appreciation expressed by those who from familiarity with the improved conditions give them little thought, but the good work speaks for itself, and the old town grows more beautiful. May the good work go on.

LITTLETON.

Midsummer Fete.
All roads will lead to Littleton on Saturday, July 31, when the town will enjoy a regular gala day. It is expected that former townspeople and others from all over New England will grace the occasion by their presence. A very elaborate program has been planned and will be formally opened by Edwin A. Cox, grand marshal of the day, and vice-president of the V. I. S., under whose auspices the entertainment is given. Thirty different committees are spending their time and energy in the interests of the affair, and attending with much care to the various features of the day. Hon. Frank A. Patch, president of the society, and chairman of the executive committee, as well as E. A. Cox and the various chairmen, are devoting themselves, heart and soul, to the success of the occasion.

The Fitchburg military band will arrive on an early train and furnish music for the day and evening. The state militia bands, inferior to none in the country, have been engaged for part of the afternoon program. Competitors are practising for the sports with marked zeal and enthusiasm.

A committee of some sixty or seventy persons, including the older residents of the town, will hold a reception in the Unitarian church at eleven o'clock, and also at seven in the evening. For those who are unfortunate enough to miss the program of the day, as well as all others who like to trip the light fantastic, there will be a dance in the evening.

The parade committee are putting in heavy strokes and announce that they will have their floats, ready to start promptly at ten o'clock a. m.

Read the posters carefully, and all come and have a good time. People in the surrounding towns have been very generous in their contributions to the advertising columns of the souvenir pamphlet. The entire program follows:

Death.
Littleton has met with an irreparable loss in the death of Asahel W. Sawyer, who passed away at his summer home in New Salem, Tuesday afternoon, July 20. Mr. Sawyer had been in failing health for two years, but with characteristic persistence fought against the ravages of disease and kept occupied with his regular business to within twenty-four hours of the time when the final summons came. Death resulted from pernicious anemia. Rev. and Mrs. E. H. Brennan arrived with the body at his late home in Littleton Tuesday. The funeral was held at that place Friday afternoon, his pastor, Rev. C. A. Drummond, officiating. Interment was in the family lot at the cemetery at Littleton Common.

William Sawyer was born in Wendell, Mass., July 14, 1835. He was educated in the district schools and at New Salem academy. For several years he followed the profession common to the family, teaching, and was a successful master of various schools in Massachusetts, and later taught one year in Maryland. These experiences contributed much to his qualification for the school committee. Early in life he decided upon a business career and took up the sale of groceries in New Salem. Later he went to Marlboro, and with a partner, Robert Cook, once proprietor of the Littleton center store, bought out the interests of a grocery firm. Here he remained for about four years during war times.

In '67 Mr. Sawyer came to Littleton, purchased the store and adjacent buildings at the corner of King street and Harwood avenue of Charles Whitcomb. In partnership with his brother, William, he began a profitable grocery business, which they sold at the conclusion of nine years to A. T. and W. L. Kimball. After five years the brothers returned to the old stand, which they kept for another nine years, this time selling out to Thacher & Hazen. About three years ago Mr. Sawyer opened his store again, this time taking no partner. Here he has remained ever since, with the exception of the summer months, during which time he has closed the store and lived in New Salem.

By natural ability, training, observation and sterling principles of character, the subject of this sketch was eminently fitted for town office and leadership. For ten years he was collector and treasurer; during many years at different times he was selector, assessor and overseer of the poor, ridding the town of many paupers that his investigation proved belonged elsewhere, and he rendered most efficient and faithful service on the school board, to which position he was recalled time and time again.

Mr. Sawyer was a consistent and devoted member of the first Congregational (Unitarian) church, which he constantly attended and where his influence was always felt. He accepted church and all other offices as a sacred trust and was faithful and loyal to the same. As member and for many years chairman of the parish committee, he devoted himself untiringly to the interests which it represented. When the church was remodelled a few years ago, Mr. Sawyer was one of the large financial contributors and gave freely of his service, directing much of the work, almost at the sacrifice of his health, and often wielding the spade or the hammer as the case required.

The deceased was twice married, first to Angella W. Robbins, who died in 1871, and again in 1873 to Helen Alma Freeman of New Salem, whose death occurred in 1903. To Mr. Sawyer and his second wife were born two children, a son who died in infancy, and Mrs. Helen A. Brennan Danvers, who was with him at the time of his death. A devoted husband and father, he shed much cheer and comfort in his home. A kind neighbor and a true friend, he extended his sympathy to the afflicted and espoused the cause of the weak and the unfortunate. In all his dealings he was honest, cautious, wise and judicious.

So great was the confidence placed in Mr. Sawyer's ability and integrity that he was constantly in demand to settle estates, care for property and make out deeds, wills and other legal documents. The interest of his clients he made his own, and into his transactions for them he carried the same care, wisdom and good judgment that he exercised for himself.

The entire community mourns for a citizen of inestimable worth and sympathizes deeply with Rev. and Mrs. Brennan and the two brothers, Orville, of Orange, and Capt. William H. of Littleton, with whom the bond of friendship was equal to that of Jonathan and David.

Family Reunion.
Thomas C. Nye of Laredo, Texas, pioneer of the onion industry in that state, and rated as a millionaire, will arrive with his wife and two sons at Edwin H. Robinson's today. They, with members of the Nye family of Littleton, will attend the meeting of the Nye family of America association, August 4, 5 and 6, at Highgate, Vt., where they will be well entertained. A house boat party on Lake Champlain, a sugaring-off, a day's outing at Highgate Spring, meetings in the church, receptions, etc., will constitute important features of the program. Mrs. Annie C. Smith, secretary and treasurer of the association, has a mailing list of 3000 members of the Nye family who are scattered all over the country.
After the reunion the Thomas Nye family will visit their relatives in Littleton. It was through the Nye genealogy recently published that Mr. Nye for the first time discovered that he had any living relations.

Spoke on Missions.
Enoch F. Belle, secretary of the foreign mission board, delivered a convincing discourse on the value and importance of foreign missions, at the Congregational church Sunday morning. At the Sunday school he spoke informally of his experiences as missionary in Japan, from which field he was obliged to return a few years ago on account of his wife's health. By request he played several selections on the harmonica that he used as a means of entertaining the large audiences which he afterwards converted, doubtless through his beautiful personality. Mr. Belle pleasantly alluded to the influence of his friend and college mate, Supt. Kimball in the choice of Yale as a college, which determined his whole career.

Birthday Anniversary.
John A. Kimball, who reached his ninety-first birthday on Wednesday, July 21, with his wife, now eighty-one, received calls and congratulations of friends, nearly fifty in number, from morning till evening of his anniversary. Among those who helped to make the day bright and beautiful was his only sister, Miss Martha A. Kimball, who accompanied her nephew, Fred A. Porter, and wife, of Leominster in their automobile, and her nieces, Mrs. Wm. A. Lawrence and Mrs. M. F. Warner of Groton. Letters, flowers, confectonery, fruit, a beautiful birthday cake, the latter from the Forget-not circle of King's Daughters, and many other visible tributes of affection and esteem, were received with grateful acknowledgment by our venerable townsman. With the exception of a cold, Mr. Kimball's health is, generally speaking, very good. His faculties are well preserved and his memory is as keen as his interest in his town as warm as in the days of his prime. He is a constant reader of this paper and the daily, letting not even the advertisements escape his observation. He is pleased to learn of all the plans for the coming fall, and hopes to enjoy meeting his friends of the present and past on that occasion.

Baseball.
The Nashua team was easy for the home club, Saturday afternoon, the latter winning 16 to 7. In the fourth inning with a good lead, Spaulding let up and his supporters also faltered, allowing the visitors to make seven tallies. After this inning the team settled and were never in danger of being scored on. The feature of the game was Capt. Whitcomb's sensational catch of a foul fly after a hard run. He timed it nicely, and just as it was going over his head made a desperate leap and pulled it down with his bare hand for the final out of the inning. O'Brien was also very much in evidence in fielding his position, gathering in one exceptional hard foul fly, and his timely wallow was the longest hit of the game. Keefe and Eastman also contributed triples, the latter with the bases full. Spaulding went into right field in the sixth, allowing Knight, the high school twirler, to finish the game and he held them out during the final innings. Lancy continued his fine work with the willow. The score:

Overcome by Heat.

Rev. F. B. Sleeper of Rowley, who has been serving as acting pastor at the Baptist church for the summer, is very seriously ill at his boarding place at Mrs. Lawrence's, suffering from a complication of troubles, the primary cause of which is the extreme heat of the past week. Upon his arrival in town last week Friday afternoon, he had proceeded only as far as the Manning tenement on Main-st., when he was seen to fall to the sidewalk in extreme suffering. Passersby went at once to his assistance and medical aid was summoned, and he was at once taken to his boarding place in a neighbor's automobile. Mrs. Sleeper arrived in town Saturday morning and is caring for him, and at this writing his condition is considered critical. While Mr. Sleeper has been serving the church here but a few weeks, he was heartily liked both in the pulpit and in social relations, and made many friends who are hoping for his recovery.

LARGEST IN THE WORLD.

Some Facts About the Great Houlton Grange of Maine.

Houlton grange of Maine was organized in April, 1864, with twenty-eight charter members. It had uphill work for several years. Four years later it had only fifty-four members. In 1879 the question of giving up the charter was seriously discussed, and the records of one evening read something like this: "Met according to appointment. Quorum present. No meeting opened. Nothing said, nothing done, nothing received." During the winter of 1888 meetings were held at the homes of the various members, and in that year the grange became incorporated and built its first grange hall. When it celebrated its twentieth anniversary it had only fifty members, but from that time on it took a new lease of life, and now it has nearly 1,000 members.

The grange now owns a large hall, built in 1898, which is 36 by 60 feet, two stories high, with lodge room on the second floor and dining room and kitchen on the ground floor. It also owns a blacksmith shop, two large stables and a store and feed mill.

The present store, built in 1902, cost about $1,900. It is 30 by 80 feet and one and one-half stories high. The cost of running the store in 1903 was about $600. Six years ago the store had no capital, but bought on credit and was open only three days each week. The stock on hand in 1903 was less than $1,000 and the volume of business $15,000. The store was not open six days a week until 1904.

Within the last six years the capital has increased to $10,000 in stock, and the store has turned over to the grange treasury about $6,000. The cost of running the store the last six months was $1,850.80. The volume of business for the year ending Dec. 10, 1908, was $137,000.

The grange feed mill was built in 1907. It is a two story building 50 by 80 feet. The second story consists of storeroom and grain bins. The mill proper is on the ground floor. It is simply a feed mill run by electric power from Aroostook falls. There are a twenty horsepower motor and a twenty inch attrition mill for grinding feed, with a capacity of sixty bushels an hour. The miller and electrician is Guy C. Porter.

Although since 1898 the business of the grange has been so pressing that "the moral, intellectual and social advancement of the American farmer" has been somewhat neglected, the grange is still doing excellent work in literary and social circles.

A HUSTLING GRANGER.

L. H. Healey, Master Connecticut State Grange.

L. H. Healey, the energetic master of Connecticut state grange, is showing his capacity for work and his ability to fill his office in a most commendable way. The grange in that state is growing substantially under his management. He is a fluent and forceful speaker and is in great demand among the granges of that state.

One of the points driven home by him is the fact that the grange is a farmers' organization and that the lecturer owes it to members to bring within their reach the best information obtainable concerning work upon the farm. Better methods of agriculture are needed, and cases are too rare in which farmers are receiving what they should from their soil and crops. The cost of raising crops must be reduced, says Master Healey, and it should be one of the chief functions of the grange to help farmers in this respect. Lecturers, if true to the purposes of the grange, will not fail to bring out the experiences of their best and most successful farmers on topics relating to the farm, the household and the home. Let the grange be the center toward which all the best farmers and their families look for practical assistance in their work.

Connecticut has now something over 12,000 members. State Master Healey was instructed at the last state grange meeting to appoint a committee of ten from each Pomona jurisdiction to assist to develop plans for more general co-operation among the members of the Order with regard to financial matters.

Salaries of National Grange Officers.

Will the editor give me some information as to salaries of the national grange officers and members of the executive committee?—E. S. P.

At the last annual meeting of the national grange the finance committee fixed the salaries as follows: State master, $500 per year and $3 per day and actual traveling expenses while away from his office in discharge of his official duty; worthy lecturer, $400 a year and $3 per day and expenses; the worthy secretary, $1,200 a year and traveling expenses when on duty for the Order; the worthy treasurer, $500 a year and expenses. Each member of the executive committee gets $3 per day and expenses when engaged in the work of the grange.

State Lecturer Lowell of New York has devised a system of leaflets for use of subordinate lecturers, which contain brief essays and other appropriate matter.

There has been a rapid advance in the use of industrial alcohol the year past. Many grange halls are now lighted with it.

Manufacturing Booms Greatly.

The Fight For Col. Gaston.

Boston Lost $1,400,000 on a Ten-Year Light Contract—The General Political Situation in the State

There has seldom been a time in the history of Massachusetts industries when business was so brisk as at the present moment. From all over the state come reports of industries in which it is necessary to work two shifts in order to fill the orders which are coming in. Many enterprises have been greatly augmented in the last few months by additions to the present equipment and the construction of new plants, made necessary by the demands of the customers for goods. In the city of Lawrence, for instance, the Wood Worsted mill is being greatly enlarged and the various other corporations like the Arlington Mills, the Pacific Mills and others are building new factories. The same is true of New Bedford and various other large manufacturing cities of the state.

All the railroads are ordering new rolling stock and preparing for a great increase in business.

There has been entered at the custom houses in Massachusetts more raw material for the use of our manufacturers than ever before within the limits of a single year. The bureau of commerce and labor at Washington has just reported that the importations of raw materials to be used in manufacturing for the year ending June 30 are greater than in any previous year in the history of the country by a large amount. The raw material largely used in Massachusetts consists of silk, cotton, wool, hemp, tobacco, India rubber, hides, skins and leather; copper, tin and lumber.

Another indication of prosperity is seen in the enormous building operations now going on in Boston and noticed in most of the other cities of the commonwealth. More large office buildings are now going up in this city than for a great many years past, and this, notwithstanding the fact that office buildings, while offering a safe investment, have yielded small returns, not, in many instances, as large as would be received from deposits in the savings bank; although there is always a slow but steady increase in the value of land upon which such buildings are erected. In the past, building operations have always been regarded as a correct barometer of business conditions; when times are bad there is very little building and much when they are good.

Gaston Seems Loath to Run

The effort of the conservative Democrats to induce Colonel William A. Gaston of Boston to stand as a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination has not met with any great success, if one is to judge by surface indications. Mr. Gaston, in replying to a question, declared that he is not a candidate for the nomination, and that he regards James H. Vahey of Watertown as entitled to the distinction, if there is any in it. Notwithstanding this attitude of the colonel, his friends are still hopeful that the sober sense of the Democratic party will prevent the nomination of Mr. Vahey and result in the choice of Colonel Gaston.

Last year, when Mr. Vahey announced his candidacy for the nomination, a number of names were presented by the conservative wing of the party in order to test party sentiment throughout the state. Last year was of course an exceptional year. The presidential contest was being waged and there was great dissatisfaction among Democrats in Massachusetts with William J. Bryan as the Democratic candidate. A great many Democrats, both conservative and radical, felt strongly that it was not only foolish but almost a crime against the party to nominate for president a man who had been twice defeated and, so far as anyone could see, was amply justified in expecting to suffer the same fate once more. For that reason Democrats generally took very little interest in party matters and made no effort to control the nominations. As a matter of fact, probably one-tenth of the Democratic party in Massachusetts last year made the nominations for the entire party, and the other nine-tenths did not care a rap whether Vahey were nominated or some other Democrat secured it.

This year it is somewhat different, but it is not unlikely that the final result may be the same.

As a matter of fact, Democrats themselves admit that Governor Draper has been so successful in his administration that no one but a party giant would hope to defeat him. Democrats have hoped that there would be so much dissatisfaction with the Republican party in connection with the enactment of a tariff act that this would help them in the state election this fall in Massachusetts. While no tariff was ever passed which was pleasing to every individual, yet there is nothing to indicate that the present bill, when completed, will not be a fairly satisfactory measure to the people of this state. Democrats themselves have largely given over the hope that they would be greatly dismayed by any dissatisfaction arising from this legislation.

Democrats Expect Labor Vote
They have hope and still expect that they will be benefited to some extent, at least, by Governor Draper's veto of the so-called eight-hour bill, applying only to employees of the cities and towns in the state. It is very well known in this connection that Governor Draper was perfectly willing to sign such a bill had it been properly drawn. He objected to some of the provisions in one section of that measure and stated to the labor men that if this were corrected he would sign it. One of these strongly urged that the changes be made to meet the governor's views. Two others refused to consent to such amendments and the bill was therefore vetoed. The rank and file of labor men who have a knowledge of these circumstances are thoroughly convinced that their representatives, in thus declining to meet the governor's objections, made a fatal mistake and thereby lost a measure which the labor men greatly desired.

It is quite a distinction for Massachusetts that President Taft should have selected one of its delightful summer resorts as his vacation home. No state in the union is more beautifully situated in regard to summer leisure than is the Old Bay State. The north shore between Salem and Gloucester shelters more distinguished people during the heated months than any like section in the entire country. This shore is so delightful that it has shorn the summer of all its terrors for those who seek its seclusion, while Cape Cod and its islands are little if any behind the north shore in attractiveness as a summer home for distinguished people.

Mr. Taft has always had a very warm feeling for Massachusetts, as it was for so many years the home of his mother and the state from which the family originated. The charms of the Berkshires have long delighted the wealthy from all over the country, and, taking the state by and large, there is no other commonwealth in the galaxy of states which excels it either in summer or at any other time of the year.

Where the Money Went

According to the report of the old finance commission of the city of Boston, the Hub has lost considerably in excess of a million dollars by reason of her light contracts, entered into by previous administrations. The finance commission did not at first make this report public, but it has now come to light and furnishes interesting reading to the taxpayers of the city. In exact figures the sum said to have been lost by reason of one-sided contracts is $1,400,000, covering a period of ten years. The other party to the contract was the Edison Electric Light company, and the stock of the Edison is selling at nearly $250 per share, the par value being $100.

The finance commission should take active steps to secure a contract which should protect the city. The new commission which has now taken office ought in some active way attend to this matter. If it can save the city a million dollars on the next ten years' contract, it will have earned its salary a great many times over.

Sight Seeing.
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howard, Main-st., took their family on a pleasure trip to Boston and its suburbs last week. The boys were delighted with all they saw, and that was more than can ordinarily be witnessed on such a trip. When at the fire department headquarters, Mason street, Boston, they were attended by Chief Mullin in person, and his kind attention and courteous explanation of the many puzzling things to a stranger, was out of the ordinary and will be long remembered by his guests. While they were there an automatic alarm sounded and the complete working of this great up-to-date system was witnessed. The boys were again in luck, for while in the harbor on a pleasure boat the entire fleet of U. S. warships in these waters was there, and a splendid opportunity to witness a large fleet maneuvers was experienced. The boys are still talking of what they saw and kind Chief Mullin.

Damage Done by Storm.
Last Friday's storm did a tremendous amount of damage in some sections of the town, both by wind and lightning. The neighboring town of Hollis suffered more and worse damage, but at North Pepperell our citizens are quite satisfied with the demonstrations they experienced. Large fruit trees were torn up by the roots on the farm of C. M. Blood and near Samuel Bancroft's, huge oaks were splintered and thrown across the highway, taking telephone lines along like twine; the same at the Prescott place. The lightning struck in surrounding places in the west part of the town. At A. A. Shattuck's, Maple street, a tree was struck; at the David Parker place the buildings narrowly escaped destruction.

At the residence of Allen McElhinney and Louis Rowe, the same street, the telephone service was put down and out to the extent of destroying the sensitive wiring of the instruments. At Mr. Rowe's the lightning punctured the wall in three places and entered a china closet where it played havoc with the fine chinaware, melting the gilt figures and smoking many different dishes, so that they cannot be secured white again. Not far from this residence the lightning split a large piece of one of the telephone poles, taking a strip of clean from the top to the ground. At the bottom of this pole no doubt would be found what is electrically termed a true ground, and it would appear that greater damage might have been done to these different residences if the wires had not carried the worst of the current to the ground. Mrs. Rowe and her one-year-old son were sitting near the telephone at the time of lightning and this is the second narrow escape that this child has had within a week. While driving home Tuesday the horse stumbled, throwing mother and child out, the child going over the dashboard. At present no serious results are expected.

East.
The C. of F. of A. will hold a lawn party at the residence of N. Nalette, Groton street, Friday evening. If stormy to be held Saturday evening, July 24.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Nokes of South Boston are at his sister's, Mrs. J. F. Flynn, Oak Hill street.

Minot Blood of Taxicab company, Boston, arrived home Thursday for a few days.

The bridge on Main street, over the Milford branch of the Boston and Maine railroad, has had many new planks placed where absolutely necessary. It is a very unsightly and rough job. If the workmen had used an adz and levelled them off, teams and autos would not notice the humps. It is understood that an entire new wood-work is planned for this bridge within a year. The present work was not done by Mr. Kenfield's men of the local section, but by the bridge department of the road.

Fred McGrail has entered the employ of the W. E. Corey store, Brookline, during his vacation.

The Pepperell-Clarion Advertiser is the local paper, which not only has all the news, but has it fresh and up-to-date. When you go on your vacation drop us a card or phone us and we will change your address for the time you wish.

The lightning last Friday played havoc with the phones in the entire west section of the town and many places at the center. Much damage was done in nearby towns, so that the entire repairing here was left with Inspector McCord, who had the broken lines and burned fuses in order by noon Saturday, with the exception of the damage done to the cable. This necessitated about two hundred feet of new thirty pair cable at Pepperell center, which was put in place by the company's men from Fitchburg on Wednesday.

Harold Copp, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Copp, is ill at his home with fever.

The steamer Park street has been busy improving Park street this week, besides mowing and taking away the grass; several loads of ashes were teamed into that part of the walk from the asphalt walk to Sartell st. The work they did last week on Main street with the cesspools will not be again necessary as soon as it is usual after a rain; as they have not teamed on any sand to be washed off by the first shower.

Mrs. B. M. Wright, the popular operator at our central office, enjoyed a trip to Lowell, Thursday afternoon, and witnessed the ball games.

The paper mill of H. A. Parker & Son is idle a few days for necessary repairs on the flooring of the beater room and the bed of the canal.

The connecting of water-takers is merrily proceeding. A. H. Gilbert's residence, Prospect street, was connected Wednesday. It is noticed that Mr. Gilbert is the first to have service both at place of business and residence.

The residence of Mrs. Sumner Parker, Hollis street, has been connected by telephone.
