on Friday evening of last week. A large audience greeted Mr. MacManus and they were in no way disappointed in their expectations of an interesting and instructive talk from a man who knows. His views were very beautiful, recalling pleasant memories to those who were familiar with this romantic old country.

Isaac P. Baker, assessor and tax collector, spent last Monday at the State House, Boston, in the interests of the town looking up holdings in corporation and bank stocks.

Announcement cards are out for Miss Mary Gertrude O'Flynn and Thomas Joseph Faherty, who are to be married at St. John's church at Worcester on Monday morning, November 24, at nine o'clock. Both young people are well-known here, Mr. Faherty especially so, having spent many of his summers here while a student and instructor at Holy Cross college. After their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Faherty will reside at Worcester.

There will be worship in the Unitarian church on Sunday morning at 10.45. Rev. C. S. Bodwell, pastor-elect, will preach the sermon from the subject "Thyself." Miss Elvira Scorgie will sing "Fear not ye, O Israel" by Buck, and a part of the chorus choir will sing the beautiful angel trio from the oratorio of Elijah, "Lift thine eyes." Mr. Bodwell requests that the people remain after the service for an informal conference.

Henry Crossley is visiting for a few days this week with his niece, Miss Lola Bemis, at Worcester.

Books are out for a three-act comedy to be given in connection with the church fair annual by the ladies of the Congregational society. The cast includes some of the best talent in the society and the play will certainly be well worth seeing.

The members of the chemical company have bills out for their annual concert and dance to be given on Thanksgiving night at the town hall. Music will be by McNally's orchestra, six pieces. This is a benefit dance for the treasury of the company. All come.

Still River.

Mrs. William H. Gerrish and daughter called on friends here on Tuesday. Mrs. Gerrish, as a girl, used to live a good deal with Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey Atherton (she was Hattie Hayden then). Her daughter is fourteen years old and Mr. and Mrs. Gerrish have a son Hayden fourteen months old.

Mrs. Adeliza Turner returned from a visit with her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Atherton, at Holyoke, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Thompson moved from their cottage to the home of their daughter, Mrs. Sarah C. Seales, Monday.

Ruth Willard is quarantined with other students at the Fitchburg Normal school on account of an outbreak of scarlet fever at the school, and her Still River friends are especially anxious. Ruth took care of one of the victims that was carried down before it was known to be scarlet fever.

Mrs. R. P. Seales entertained the Birthday club at her home on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Mabel Sprague entertained her cousins, Misses Helen, Elaine and Edith Arey, of Salem, over Sunday.

Miss Mary Cummings, of Leominster, called on Still River friends on Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Rose Howard, Mrs. Alice Haskell and Mrs. Hattie Stone attended the State King's Daughters' convention at Fitchburg on Tuesday.

C. J. Merrifield dug 2140 bushels of fine potatoes this fall and has sold them all at an average price of ninety cents per bushel. If the season had not been so dry he says he would have raised nearly 5000 bushels.

Seventy-seventh Anniversary.

Monday was the seventy-seventh birthday anniversary of Luther Willard, and his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Merrifield, arranged a surprise party for him and invited relatives to supper in the evening. There were twenty-one that sat down to a beautiful supper of oyster stew, rolls, tea, coffee, pie, assorted cakes and fruit and ice cream. At the close of the eating a platter was placed before Mr. Willard and he was requested to open the packages that were on it. One was a box containing seventy-seven large peppermints, another a red bandana handkerchief "for Sunday use only," and a pair of solid gold cuff links, the latter from all the guests. The company then went to the parlor and music was enjoyed. At the supper table were the following: Mr. and Mrs. Luther Willard, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Haskell, (Mr. Haskell was sixty-seven years old the same day), Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Stone, Mrs. Anna R. Flinders, F. W. Bateman, Miss Eliza A. Bateman, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Willard, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Morse, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Harrod, Miss Alice M. Harrod, Abel Willard, Miss Blanche Willard, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Hayes, and a son of Mr. Merrifield from Maine, who arrived that evening to visit his father.

WESTFORD.

Center.

Rev. William Anderson occupied the pulpit Sunday morning at the Congregational church and gave his hearers an excellent sermon upon "Whereunto shall I liken the kingdom of God." This is Mrs. Anderson's home church and interest was felt in the service and it was to be regretted that the hard rainstorm kept many at home. The girls' vested choir sang a beautiful anthem, "Somewhere it is always morning," Miss Lillian Sutherland sustaining the solo part. At the last communion service at this church, November 2, Mrs. Sarah Whitney and her three daughters, Misses Ethel, Estella and Minnie Whitney, were received into membership by letter from the Advent Christian church of Lowell.

Workmen have been busy on the house recently taken possession of by the Edward Fishers, thinning out the tangle of vines and shrubbery surrounding it which is conceded as very much of an improvement.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Sutherland were guests last week at Mrs. Walter E. Vickery's silver wedding anniversary in Chelmsford.

The young people are planning a dance for next Friday evening at the town hall under the auspices of the Westford A. A. The Crescent orchestra will furnish the music.

Master Morton Seavey is shut in from his usual boyish activities with an injured knee, hurt while playing with the other boys.

Miss Evelyn Hamlin has been spending the week at home from her studies at Fitchburg Normal school, the school being closed for that time on account of contagious sickness.

C. Willis Hildreth has been busy with helpers clearing the leaves from the common and our tree-lined main streets, giving them a much neater appearance.

Mrs. Albert W. Heywood gave a very pretty birthday party for her little daughter Alice on Friday, November 7. It was the little lady's third birthday anniversary and guests invited were Roger H. Hildreth, Elizabeth Carver, Genevieve Blaney, Hazel Pond, Edna Hamlin, Ruth Lumbert and Kenneth Wright. Dainty refreshments and a birthday cake with candles had its place of honor.

There will be a musical and sale in the parlors of the Unitarian church next week Friday afternoon from two to five o'clock. Mrs. Herbert D. Foss, soprano, and Miss Thomas, violinist, both of Cambridge, will furnish excellent music. Home cooking, fancy articles and aprons will be on sale.

The members of the Y. P. S. C. E. gave Miss Etha Whitney a surprise birthday party one evening last week. It was Miss Whitney's eighteenth birthday anniversary and a very pleasant time was enjoyed by those present, which numbered about thirty. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

The water has been shut off from the new drinking fountain to prevent pipes freezing during the cold weather and depending on the wind on the pump inside the town hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Sutherland and Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Nesmith, of Westford grange, were among those in attendance at the sessions of the National grange at Manchester, N. H., this week.

Officers Elected. The Ladies' Aid society of the Congregational church held an enthusiastic and well attended meeting at the vestry on Wednesday afternoon. It was a business meeting for the election of officers and committees for the winter socials. The following officers were elected:

Mrs. David Wallace, pres.; Mrs. L. W. Wheeler, v. p.; Mrs. William C. Roudenbush, sec.; Mrs. John P. Wright, Miss Florence Wilson, Mrs. Hugh Ferguson, Mrs. L. W. Wheeler, Mrs. Walter E. Merritt, Mrs. W. W. Roudenbush, directors; Mrs. A. W. Hartford, Mrs. C. L. Hildreth, Miss Grant, Miss Crocker, Miss Edith A. Wright, entertainers; Mrs. E. B. Atwood, S. L. Taylor, Mrs. Isles, Mrs. Bannister, Mrs. McMaster, Mrs. J. E. Knight, supper committee; Mrs. George Kimball, Mrs. Isles, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. H. H. Wright, Mrs. Bannister, Mrs. Hartford, calling committee; committees for monthly socials—Mrs. L. E. Atwood, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. John Wright, Mrs. Wheeler, Mrs. Ferguson and Mrs. McMaster, November; Christmas entertainment and supper for the children in charge of Sunday school officers; Mrs. J. E. Knight, Mrs. Isles, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. McMaster, January; Rev. David Wallace, February; Mrs. A. W. Hartford, Mrs. David L. Greig, Mrs. John P. Wright, Mrs. L. W. Wheeler, Mrs. March, Mrs. Edith A. Wright and Mrs. W. C. Roudenbush, April; Miss Hazel Hartford and Miss Hilda Isles and other young people, May.

Entertainment Course. The following is the attractive entertainment course under the auspices of Westford academy at town hall, at 7.45 in the evening on the following dates:

Tuesday, December 9, Sydney Landon, character artist, comprising character sketches of great literary men, past and present; "Our costume, home" and "Man's peculiarities"—instructive as well as funny. Friday, January 16, C. Everett Wallace, entertainer, presenting humorous sketches, monologues, songs, banjo playing and ventriloquism. A lot of good fun all the time. Friday, February 20, Ray D. Newton, the mystic entertainer, comprising music, magic and mystery. Everybody kept alive and guessing.

Accident. William E. Wright met with a sorry accident Tuesday evening about 7.30, when his comparatively new Universal three-ton auto truck was practically demolished by fire. Mr. Wright had started to take a party of strangers to Tyngsboro and had left the town hall with about fifteen or twenty passengers and was proceeding to Chamberlin's Corner to take on more people. When near the Charles Walker farmhouse something went wrong and flames suddenly shot out from the side of the truck. Everybody dismounted in a hurry and it was seen at once that the fire was serious. The top seating arrangement was removable and that was taken off and the rear wheels and frame work were understood was saved, but the engine and front part of the car was consumed by the fire. A hurry call for help was sent to the village from the alarm telephone for help and was generously responded to, but there was little to do by the time help could get there.

The passengers who wended their way to their various homes were in very different mood from the laughing, singing group of a little while before out for a moonlight frolic and the lure of a pleasant grange meeting and turkey supper with a neighboring town.

Much sincere sympathy is felt for the energetic and enterprising owner of the truck. With it he had done a good season's work teaming produce to the Boston market and was planning to handle a large amount of apples this winter. There was an insurance on the machine, but whether adequate to compensate for corresponding inconvenience and disappointment is a question.

About Town. Line thirteen of the telephone system, which is the Stony Brook line, was sent out for the count on Tuesday evening, just about the time the auto-truck gasoline tank cooled, and deprived many of supper. Please connect us, but not with the gasoline tank.

Daniel H. Sheehan has started up his woolen, cotton, cider mill combination located on Tadmuck brook.

Frank C. Drew is improving the attractiveness of his house and the Lowell road to the passer-by in those two coats of uncolored, unadulterated white paint. William H. Johnson has charge of the brush department.

The town is making itself feel the wisdom of the road money in filling the mud holes in the gravel on the Lowell road. Continuation to the Chelmsford town line gentlemen before you get out of wisdom and money for there are a few depressions that give the traveler a sense of precipitation before reaching double the number in Chelmsford.

The monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held at the home of the general hostess, Mrs. Homer M. Seavey, last week Wednesday afternoon. The president, Mrs. Janet Wright, as delegate to the state convention, gave an entertaining account. This was followed by routine business. A social hour and tempting refreshments by the hostess.

Westford Board of Trade was represented by invitation at the Lowell Board of Trade on Tuesday evening. The address was given by Franklin H. Wentworth representing the National Fire Protection association. He took for his subject "Fire protection." It is a little singular that this subject should be selected on the very evening that several members of the Westford Board of Trade were on their way to Lowell for the burning auto bound for Tyngsboro and several other members of the Westford Board of Trade were waiting with "cold feet" at the corner of Lowell and Stony Brook roads for the Charles Pickering family.

The Charles Pickering family have leased the house recently vacated by the Edward Fisher family and will be new residents of the town. Mrs. Pickering will be remembered as Miss E. Taylor of the old Stony Brook school district, and one of the bright and genial associates of that past history.

Perley E. Wright has purchased an auto truck for apple transportation with reference to Boston market.

Charles W. Whitney has some fine home-grown raised colts that are visible in the pasture opposite the John H. Decatur residence.

Ancient Barbarism. A few more "open seasons" like the present double-barreled shooting affair in hunting and there will be no birds or animals left on earth except cows and woodchucks. The public schools are encouraged to emphasize "Preservation of wild life" and the daily press and monthly magazines sound the same note, and about the time agitation for preservation seems to be building up we neutralize with the open season. We teach preservation and practice extermination. We still bear trade marks of our ancient barbarism in our indiscriminate gun habits that add so much variety to life, and our old friends from tree to tree—the gray squirrel—that had begun to increase under the rule of "thou shalt not." We have got badly riddled in this enjoyable open season. Shoot away, gentlemen, annihilate wild life and stamp out the sentimental in nature and leave nothing on earth but finance.

A sad drowning accident in the canal at West Chelmsford occurred last week Friday while Walter Smith, aged seven years, was rolling a hoop with two other boys. In an effort to recover his hoop from the canal he fell in and was drowned. With his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith, he came from England only a month ago and was stopping with his grandparents, Mrs. Amos G. Bilson. The parents had just gone to Northampton to secure work and the last words the mother were: "Now mother look after Walter and see that nothing happens to him for you know he is only a child, we have left." Sad, sad indeed when this only child was drowned the afternoon of the day his parents left for Northampton.

His younger playmates, innocent and helpless, witnessed the drowning and somewhat disconnectedly gave the alarm. "Walter is floating down the canal." The alarm was late. The Boy Scouts of North Chelmsford were rallied to search the woods, thinking he had lost his way, as his companions did not give the clue until later. The boy was recovered on Saturday morning when the canal had been drawn down.

The funeral was held from the village church on Monday afternoon, service by Rev. P. Crawford conducting the church. The school children marched from the house to the grave and carried the different contributions of flowers. The bearers were schoolmates—Albert and Edwin Burne, Carl Haberman, Theodore Robarge, Arthur Nyström, Mavry Nelson. At the church the school children sang "Jesus lover of my soul" and "When he cometh to make up his jewels." Mrs. F. L. Roberts, of the First Universalist church of Lowell, always a favorite in the village, volunteered her services and sang "Safe in the arms of Jesus" and "Let the little ones come unto me." Burial was in the village cemetery.

Forced to Return Supperless. The moon, the weather and the roads invited a large number of Westford grangers to mingle with Tyngsboro on Tuesday evening. The auto-truck of William E. Wright was engaged for the evening. It was well loaded and loaded with what was residence on East Main street. The auto showed symptoms of illness and everyone was ordered off deck in the flash of a minute with some light connected with it. The truck was discovered to be on fire and in a few more twinkles of time the gasoline tank exploded and bruised the machinery in a thoughtless manner. The blaze went sky rocket high and threatened the Walker residence. Members of the Edward M. Abbot fire company were summoned and the flames were lowered in perpendicular height and horizontal spread. Fortunately everybody was on earth when the truck threatened to dispose of them. Thus caught the Tyngsboro turkey supper except to those who went truckless, which is better and safer than supperless.

Grange. The next meeting of Westford grange will be held on Thursday evening, November 20. The program calls for election of officers. This is an error and the error will have substituted for it "An evening in charge of past masters." They include J. Willard Fletcher, Walter J. Merritt, Edson G. Boynton, Leonard W. Wheeler, W. M. Wright, Frank C. Wright, Fred L. Fletcher, John P. Wright, Alonzo H. Sutherland and Samuel L. Taylor. A meeting was held at the residence of John E. Wright to arrange plans. Belle Harrington, Hill of Lowell, will entertain some of the time. When she is recovering to entertain again the ladies' quartet will be cream and other warm staff. The masters of the granges whose territory lines up in a perambulating way so as to touch Westford will be invited to be present.

Graniteville. The batters are now up for the new firehouse that is to be erected on land on Fifth street, opposite the Sargent school. This appears to be an ideal spot for the site, as it is centrally located and easily approached from all sides. It is now known at the present just when the work on the building will commence, for it being a town job there are certain formalities to go through concerning the title to the land, etc., before the contract will be awarded to the contractors and operations commenced.

The members of the Graniteville A. A. held a well-attended and interesting meeting in their rooms on Monday evening with Edward Riney, president, in the chair. Business of importance was transacted and the entertainment committee reported much progress made on the form of entertainment which will present in the near future. After the meeting a social hour was enjoyed.

The Ladies' Aid society of the M. E. church met with Mrs. Henry Smith on Thursday afternoon and enjoyed a very pleasant meeting. The parishioners of the M. E. church held a pound party at the home of the pastor, Rev. A. Earl Kernahan on Tuesday evening and the affair was very largely attended. Mr. and Mrs. Kernahan, with an efficient committee of young people, made it very pleasant for all and the time was very pleasantly passed. The whole affair was voted a huge success and the contributions were very generous.

Henry Smith has recently purchased a new Metz runabout, having disposed of his Stanley steamer that he has been driving for the past few seasons.

The members of Cameron Circle, C. F. of A., held their regular meeting on last Tuesday evening.

Many people of this village are expected to take advantage of the open season for deer that commences next week and will continue for six days. It is needless to say that there will be more hunters than deer, as was the case last year.

Forge Village. The many friends of Harry Lewis will be pleased to learn that he is recovering from an operation for appendicitis performed at the Groton hospital, several days ago.

A little daughter was welcomed into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bennett on Sunday, November 9.

Mrs. Helen Taylor and Miss Annie Reynolds, of Lowell, attended the supper and concert at the mission house held last week Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Shackleton left for New Bedford on Saturday, where they will reside in the future.

Mrs. Walter Brooks, of Brockton, is the guest of Mrs. Harriet E. Randall for a few weeks.

Mrs. William Edwards, of Waltham, are visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pyne.

Golden Dome The Distinctive Tea Ancestry

Prior to centuries of cultivation the various kinds of Golden Dome Teas had one common ancestor, the wild tea plant. Europeans first discovered the wild tea plant growing in the gardens of Assam, although in China tea cultivation was general during the 3rd century. Golden Dome Teas by their highly cultivated flavors faithfully represent one of the most ancient industries of the world.

Death. The many friends of Mrs. Mary Coburn, widow of the late Peter Coburn will be pained to hear of her death which occurred on Tuesday morning at her home on Union street. Mrs. Coburn has lived in this village for over fifty years and was highly esteemed by all who knew her. She was a regular attendant, when health permitted, of St. Catherine's church, but for the past few years has been in a very feeble condition owing to her advanced age. Mrs. Coburn was a quiet, home-loving woman, and all who knew her or come in contact with her seemed to feel the benefit of her christian character. She will be greatly missed, as she was very well known by both the young and old alike.

Supper and Entertainment. The first supper of the season was held by the members of the Ladies' Sewing Circle in Recreation hall on last week Thursday evening and it proved a thorough success. The tables were very prettily arranged and an amount of dainty dishes were quickly consumed. A large number attended from Graniteville, including Rev. and Mrs. A. Carl Kernahan, pastor of the M. E. church. A very interesting and especially well arranged musical program followed. All the numbers were well applauded. During the evening Rev. Williston Ford, pastor of St. Andrew's mission, spoke on church unity and appreciated the presence of a fellow clergyman, Mr. Kernahan. Those in charge of the supper were Mrs. Richard D. Prescott, Mrs. Nelson Prescott, Mrs. David Lord, Mrs. George Sanborn, Mrs. William Burnett, Mrs. Chester Blodgett, Mrs. Charles Blodgett, Mrs. William Blodgett, Mrs. Hugh Ferguson and Mrs. W. H. Ewald. The affair was for the benefit of the mission.

SHIRLEY.

News Items. Alexander Bodah, between fourteen and fifteen years of age, ran away from his home on Monday and it is thought has gone to Holyoke. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bodah who reside at the Phoenix. The last his parents saw of him was when he left his home at the usual time on Monday morning to go to his place of employment at the factory of the C. A. Edgarton Company. It was learned that the lad drew all the wages due him and boarded the 11.15 electric car for Fitchburg. He was located in Holyoke on Wednesday. His father went to that city and brought him home again.

The Shirley Industrial school football team was easily defeated by the Fitchburg high school team on the Circle street grounds, Fitchburg, last Saturday by a score of 33 to 0.

George E. Byram is confined to his home this week threatened with pneumonia.

Mrs. Charles W. Wolff again entered the new England sanitarium at Melrose on Tuesday to be treated for sciatic rheumatism. Mrs. Wolff has suffered considerable of late and it is hoped has taken the sanitarium treatment in the nick of time.

Mrs. Levi Landry and sister, Miss Lucy visited relatives in Lowell last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cormier and Miss Christine Gionet spent last Saturday and Sunday with friends in Roxbury.

Alex Bulger, who is suffering from the effects of tuberculosis, is now confined to his bed and seems to be gradually sinking.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Holden spent the week-end and over Sunday in Shrewsbury at the home of their son, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holden.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Harvey, of Ansonia, Conn., former residents of this town, spent the week-end with friends in Shirley.

Edonion lodge, I. O. O. F., netted about $125 on their ball held last week Friday evening.

A number of the King's Daughters went to Fitchburg on Tuesday evening to attend the state conference at the Rollstone church.

A set of books was received this week Wednesday at the library from the Agricultural college. They include the latest and most authoritative ideas concerning farming. They are loaned to the library for a period of six months and will be gladly loaned to anyone interested.

Old Shirley chapter, D. A. R., holds its first entertainment of the series of four Odd Fellows hall on Monday evening at eight o'clock. Don't miss it.

New telephones this week are John Conant, 32-3; Leonard Hooper, 35-2.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Universalist church held its regular monthly social, supper and entertainment in the church vestry on Wednesday evening, a goodly number being present who appreciated the evening festivities. The following is the program of entertainment and committee: Vocal solo, Miss Agnes Lynch; duet, violin and piano, Miss Virginia MacElroy and Miss Sarah Stevenson; "Scrubtown sewing circle's" Thanksgiving, Mrs. Florence Ballou, Mrs. Inez Lynch, Mrs. C. H. Knox, E. Edgarton, Miss Mary Badstuber, Miss Hazel Ballou, Supper committee—Mrs. H. W. Evans, Mrs. Carrie Tilden, Mrs. H. Barnard, Mrs. Laura Ballou and Mrs. Lavone Edgarton.

A. A. Filbeck, auctioneer, will sell by public auction a lot of household goods belonging to Mrs. Dranville Fairbanks on Saturday afternoon, November 15, at one o'clock. Directly after this sale will be sold the household goods of Mrs. Williamson, in the Davis tinshop house.

Brotherhood Meeting. The opening Wednesday night of the brotherhood of the Congregational church proved to be one of more than usual interest. A fine escalloped oyster supper was served at 6.30, under the direction of the following committee: Walter Knowles, Russell Palmer, Albie Annis, Henry W. Eisner and Leslie Wells. The ladies who assisted in the kitchen were Mrs. Walter Knowles, Mrs. C. H. Miner, Mrs. Albie Annis, Mrs. Henry W. Eisner and Mrs. G. S. Wells. At the close of the supper hour a short business session was held. F. H. Fowler presiding. The old officers and committees were re-elected for another year.

The guest and speaker of the evening, Fred Deibert M. Staley, president of the college at "The spoken word," Trinity court, Boston, was then introduced and gave a splendid and interesting address on the subject, "The value of literary interpretation." Mr. Staley, during his address, gave many quotations and impersonations from many famous literary authors, which held the close and undivided attention of his audience.

At the close of his talk, along this line Mr. Staley touched on the subject of "Psychology of action," giving many pointed and interesting facts. He is an authority on this study and has written a book on it, which is now being printed. He closed his remarks by urging the members to stand together and be a force in the community, citing many potent facts on the value of church organization of the men for the moral and social uplift of the community. In short his address was one of the most instructive and enjoyable that the Brotherhood have ever been privileged to hear and at its finish was greeted with loud and prolonged applause.

A fitting vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Staley for his kindness in appearing before the club. A social hour followed when all present availed themselves of the opportunity of greeting the speaker of the evening. Thus closed one of the most profitable evenings ever spent by the Brotherhood.

Clipping. The half tone of Miss Allison Winslow, adopted daughter of Miss Helen M. Winslow, the authoress, together with the following clipping was inserted in last Sunday's Boston American:

"The adoption of a child by a famous maiden woman—author was received in Boston by the arrival at the suffrage festival of Miss Marie Winslow of Shirley and her daughter," Miss Allison Winslow.

"I was lonely and felt that I needed some one to care for me," said Miss Winslow in telling her friends of the adoption of her daughter. "Fourteen years ago I decided to adopt a daughter of my own. Although a spinster, I have felt all the joy of being a mother. My adopted daughter has been all that a real daughter could be to a real mother."

"The daughter" is a charming girl of the blonde type. She is twenty-one and is very fond and proud of her author-mother. Like her "mother," she is an enthusiastic suffragist. Both

Misses Winslow presided over the autograph book stall at the suffrage festival.

Odd Fellows' Ball.

The ball held at Odd Fellows' hall last week Friday evening under the auspices of Fredonion lodge, I. O. O. F., was an event long to be remembered and was marked with splendor and enthusiasm. It was the opening night of the hall which has undergone extensive and much needed repairs and was the subject of favorable comment from the 400 in attendance.

Newell's orchestra of Marlboro furnished the music and when the concert commenced at eight o'clock every available seat was occupied on the main floor and also in the balcony which has recently been one of the features that have been added during the time alterations have been in progress and has greatly improved the appearance of the interior of the hall. A box office to the right of the main entrance gives the hall a cosmopolitan appearance and the three hundred non-collapsible seats designed and supplied to comfort has also supplied a much needed want.

The seating capacity of the main hall is 420 and the balcony sixty, making it possible to comfortably accommodate 480 and is most encouraging catering to the hall who are to be seen in the list of improvements also in the list of improvements when plays are being presented. The other essential features are the toilet rooms on the second floor, the new windows of the main hall and the new maple hardwood floor has greatly improved the enjoyment of the dances and the delicate shade of green which adorns the walls has given tone to the entire surroundings.

The grand march was led by Earl C. Merriman and Miss Evelyn Miner. The dancing was in the lodge room on the third floor about the parting of the substantial viands provided. Dancing held sway until two in the morning. A striking feature of the evening was the costumes of the ladies.

LUNENBURG.

News Items. In spite of the very disagreeable, damp, foggy weather and skies overcast with threatening clouds, a goodly number of earnest workers with their tools in hand, gathered at the Marshall park last Saturday prepared for the work, which at once proceeded to do most valiantly. Stones were picked up and drawn, filling up the hollows, brush and about all that can be done this fall was practically finished on that day. Dinner was served in the grove as planned, as it was too damp and chilly to sit under dripping trees for the noon day meal.

Mrs. Elizabeth E. Keese, who a few years ago was a resident of Lunenburg and owned two pretty cottages here, but who removed to Ashburnham to give her children the privilege of attending school at Cushing academy, has sold her real estate in this town with the expectation of making her home in Ashburnham. One cottage on Hancock street, was sold to Mr. Alexander, of Fitchburg, and now the other one situated on Massachusetts avenue has been purchased by A. C. Ferry, of Fitchburg, who will make it his home and expects to occupy it about December 1st.

It is reported that William J. Aker has sold his residence in the center of the town with 2 1/2 acres of land to Mrs. Grace E. Bacon, who expects to occupy it as soon as Mr. Aker and family can give possession.

A very enjoyable husking bee was held at the home of W. H. Lowe on the Townsend road last Saturday evening and about one hundred bushels of corn with enough red ears to make it interesting were husked, at which a fine supper was served and garnished a general good time enjoyed by all.

Miss M. Eldora Jones left town on Monday for Newburyport, where she plans to spend the winter.

The grange observed past masters' night on Wednesday. During the twenty-five years since its organization the grange has had twelve masters, as follows: James J. Owen, 1888, 1889, 1890; John Woodredge, 1891, 1892, 1894, 1899, 1900, 1904; John H. Witherell, 1893; Edwin S. Marshall, 1895, 1896, 1898; James L. Harrington, 1897, 1898, 1899; J. Phillip Gilchrist, 1901, 1902, 1906; Fred E. Hadlock, 1903; Arthur Q. Emerson, 1908; Edgar E. Rines, 1909; M. Warren Sterlin, 1910; Arthur W. Rockwood, 1911; William A. Warren, 1912, 1913.

The Epworth League held a meeting at Herbert O. Mead's on Monday evening.

LITTLETON.

News Items. The Fitchburg Normal school has been closed on account of the prevalence of scarlet fever. Miss Miriam Cash, of this town, is at home sick with the fever.

Hugh McDonald, A. H. McDonald, William Tobin, J. H. Remick and James Neagle attended the meeting of the Knights of Columbus at Ayer on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. James W. Ireland has been visiting her son Harry and wife in Gardner.

J. H. Whitcomb, conductor, and his nephew, Douglas Whitcomb, have gone to Maine on a hunting trip.

Mrs. Lawrence and friends were the guests of Lieut. G. N. Barker at Annapolis on last Saturday and attended the football game between the naval academy and Bucknell State college.

The former played all around the Bucknell team and won by a score of 38 to 0. Washington, Annapolis and all the naval dignitaries, including Admiral Dewey, were present. The view from the field with its environment of noble buildings was an inspiring one, and included the nearby shores of lovely Chesapeake Bay, filled with sloops, steamers and boats of all description, and standing bravely up in the foreground was the captive Spanish galleon, the Albatross.

No one can faithfully describe Annapolis. It must be seen to be appreciated. How Littleton farmers would laugh to see the Maryland soil.

Woman's Club Meeting. The Woman's club held the third meeting of the season on Monday afternoon. Mrs. Mary Packard, vice president, presided in the absence of Miss Emma Tenney, who was obliged to be out-of-town. A few matters of business received attention. Mrs. Lawrence was chosen delegate to the National Conservation Congress that will be held in Washington, D. C., on November 18, 19 and 20. Miss Grace Davis, in excellent voice, rendered a pleasing solo, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Alice Fruty.

The scheduled speaker, Mrs. Josephine Hayward, who is traveling in the south, was obliged to cancel her engagement and Mrs. Eulalie Fairfield kindly consented to address the club on "The two Brontës, Charlotte and Emily," giving much of their personal life, and more especially of their literary merits and more through their authorship. Mrs. Fairfield's paper was ably written and delivered and the audience in turn was pleased to give Mrs. Fairfield a rising vote of thanks for her great favor.

Baptist Notes.

The plans for rally day at the Baptist Sunday school met with a very gratifying response in both numbers and interest, despite the heavy rains. The songs had been selected by ballot three weeks previously. The exercises opened with a fitting address by the superintendent. As the purpose was mainly to awaken renewed interest in the school, its work and needs, the various departments were represented in a statement by the primary department of three grades and five classes sang a dainty motion picture and two recitations. "It couldn't be done" and "Cheer up, sonny" were given by the little folks.

For the intermediate department of two classes, the Franklin class of ten boys read in concert the first psalm. The senior department of four classes interested in it all was felt with a greeting was read from a former member who has not attended for two years on account of sickness, and when all repeated in concert a bible verse con- tributed by one who had been a member of the school for forty years. The rally closed with a three-minute summary of the day's temperance lesson, a charge to the officers and teachers, a pledge of service for the coming year by the whole school, and the song that had received the largest number of votes "Stand up, stand up for Jesus."

Miss Eleanor R. Edwards on Sunday visited the Baptist and Congregational churches as the representative of the Massachusetts Bible society, speaking before a large assembly, both churches. While here Miss Edwards was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Caulkins and Miss Elizabeth Houghton. Many availed themselves of the opportunity of this society to purchase bibles and bible literature at cost. Miss Edwards is at present engaged in making a religious census of the city of Lowell.

At the Sunday evening service at the Baptist church Miss Eleanor R. Edwards, evangelist, delivered an excellent sermon on "The bible, the book of power."

The Woman's Mission Circle will meet with Mrs. Hiram Sauler next Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock. A question and answer contest on the material in Burmah will be the main feature.

Mellen's Revelation.

The new book of revelation by Charles S. Mellen, and published in the Boston Sunday Post of November 9, makes most interesting reading, especially for those who have been in doubt as to whom we were indebted for the control of our railroads.

Mr. Mellen's testimony proves from an authoritative source that even the president of a great railroad system like the New Haven is as much the servant of the financier who controls the purse string as the humblest office boy and that the bulk of magnificent material service he rendered and performed, but as a recompense for the dirty work he had to do and the cursing he had to take from an angry public in consequence, for he himself says no man can earn more than $25,000 a year.

The abuse and vilification he had to take to shield his bosses and which they no doubt richly deserved was undoubtedly worth the other $50,000 a year if it had not had a long way toward substantiating the statement that has found its way into print that less than a dozen men control practically all the railroads in the country.

Of one thing we may be fairly certain, that the government operation of these would be mighty few $75,000 presidents to pay out of the earnings, and the occupations of the gentlemen of Wall street who so profitably manipulate railroad stocks would be what all of us would benefit the users of the railroad.

Though there is nothing particularly new in the revelations of Mr. Mellen, it is somewhat startling in coming from one who has been so long on the inside and has had such perfect facilities for accumulating correct information, and it ought to attract the attention of the public even if it was set up on the same page with the football news. There is surely much food for thought in the article. V. T. E.

BOARD OF THANKS

We take this opportunity of sincerely thanking kind friends and neighbors for the many acts of kindness shown during the illness and after the death of our loved one, Richard Elmer. We shall never forget the beautiful floral tributes and the sympathy and practical offers of assistance that was manifested so practically to us in the hour of our grief and sorrow, and which helped to sustain us in life's darkest hour. We wish to kindly thank any and all who helped or offered assistance in any way.

THE MAN WITH THE SUIT CASE

A Story For Thanksgiving

By MARTHA V. MONROE

"Jim, I heard you are going to be married."

"Where did you hear that?"

"Oh, I heard it a month ago! I think it was on Thanksgiving day. I dined with the Atwaters. They said Clara Webster was just the girl for you, you being impulsive, she steady and cautious."

"Did they say that?"

"Yes."

"Listen. I have a little story to tell you. On the very day, Thanksgiving, that these persons were attributing these traits to us a little drama was being enacted."

"My friend Billy Smithson invited Clara and me to spend the Thanksgiving week end at his house in the country, which he opened for the occasion. The affair was got up to celebrate our engagement, for Billy is an old chum of mine, and his wife is an intimate friend of Clara's."

"Clara and I were to go up on the train together, but just as I was about to leave the office to call for her a job came into the office which nobody but I could do, and I was obliged to remain over till the next day. I telephoned her to go on and I would arrive the next day. I reached the house the next afternoon to find the guests gone out on an automobile ride Billy had got up for them. There were three carloads, and they were not to return till 7 o'clock. About 6 I dressed for dinner and was going downstairs when I met a man coming up with a suit case in his hand. Presuming he was one of the guests who had just arrived, I went on down into the library, thinking no more about him and amusing myself till the auto party returned."

"This was the evening before Thanksgiving. The next day we were getting ready for the feast when Clara took me off into a quiet corner and said to me:

"Will, I have a very unpleasant communication to make. On returning from the auto ride yesterday several of the girl guests missed articles of jewelry. Several boxes in which the jewels were kept were found in the closet in your room."

"Naturally I was a bit upset by this information, but the principal cause was that Clara didn't say this with my hand in hers or her arms around me, but sitting apart, and instead of adding that she felt just absolutely confident that I was not a thief she looked very gloomy and waited for me to say something."

"Clara, I said astounded, 'do you mean to say that you have the slightest suspicion that I stole these jewels?'"

"It is the bounden duty of every one," she replied, "to consider an accused person innocent until proved guilty. And as your fiancée I feel obliged to do what I can to influence the others to give you every opportunity to clear yourself."

"It was not so much the position in which I was placed that troubled me as the snapping of the cord that bound me to Clara. In a twinkling my feelings toward her were changed from attraction to repulsion. And yet what fault could I find with her? What right had I to expect her to believe me innocent in face of such proof against me and before I had brought forward any proof in my favor? She was simply acting on that trait in her character for which those persons you have mentioned on that very day were giving her credit."

"This change in my feelings toward her for awhile overrode every other. Then the gravity of my position rushed upon me with full force. But what could I do? Ignorant as I was of how the jewelry boxes got into my closet, I didn't see that I could do anything but leave the house."

"I went to Billy, who begged me to stay, saying that there was some mystery about the matter which he hoped would be cleared up, but I judged that he didn't know what to make of the matter, and at last he agreed with me that I might as well go. On passing out, Sue Wentworth, who, since her father's failure, has been making her own living by teaching school, came out of the drawing room into the hall and said:

"Mr. Thruston, this idea of your having stolen jewels is absurd. There are a hundred suppositions that can be made, each more likely than what appears on the surface. Some one stole the jewels, took them into your room temporarily and threw the boxes down there. That's one!"

"There was something in her hypothesis that brought back the man I had seen going upstairs with the suit case, and it solved the problem for me, for it occurred to me that I had not seen him since. But this was nothing to me compared with the comfort I derived from Miss Wentworth's faith in me. I just put my arms about her and hugged her."

"She, backed by my statement as to the man with the suit case, changed everything. All came to me and begged me to remain. I did so and was treated cordially by every one. Since then some of the jewels have been recovered in possession of a thief, who confirmed my theory of their loss."

"And how about your engagement?"

"Oh, I'm engaged, but not to Clara. She has too much caution for me. I don't think I need it, notwithstanding the opinion of your friends."

"To whom are you engaged?"

"To Sue Wentworth."

The business men having stores in Page block are to have electric lights installed in the block which will be kept lighted all night. This, it is thought, will tend to prevent breaks from being committed as they have in the past.

The feature picture at the moving picture show this Saturday evening will be "The skitator in the block" in two parts. The management also makes the important announcement that the first of the series of "Who will marry Mary?" pictures will also be one of the best pictures on the bill for this Saturday night. This story, and in pictures is the most interesting one and must be seen to be appreciated. It is therefore very important to see the first picture, if the connected story is to be seen. This story is the sequel to the "What happened to Mary" series given here some time ago. Altogether it will be a first-class show.

Moy Yon, of Milford, N. H., was in town on Monday. He has sold his laundry in that town where he has been for four years and has purchased a laundry in East Boston, where he has two laundries employed. For particulars inquire of Thomas F. Mullin.

Undergoing Repairs. The repairs to the building to be used by the feculose company, formerly known as the New England Paper and Stationery building, are about completed. There is, however, much work to be done inside before the firm is ready to do business. A number of large vats made of re-inforced concrete are being built for containing the product of the company. These vats are very strongly made and so constructed as to successfully resist the action of the chemicals which will be put in them. In order to have the vats of equal temperature, while the outer walls tend to keep out the cold air, the cement walls and bottoms are strengthened by steel rods which are laid in the cement. This construction is something new.

The building is being painted and everything about the place will be in first-class condition before the company is ready for business, which will not be for several weeks at least. The J. W. Bishop Company, of Worcester, has charge of the entire work of repairs, painting and interior work.

Surveying Proposed Railway. Surveyors have been at work during the past week going over the line of the proposed electric line from Groton to Boston. This line has been talked of for several years and a preliminary survey was made some time ago. It is looked upon by street railway men as an excellent paying proposition and it would not be surprising if the work of construction would be started at any time. Incidentally such a connection would mean a through fast electric line from Fitchburg to Boston, the cars coming into the former city over the Fitchburg and Lowell and Fitchburg and Leominster roads. The proposed new line will start from the Fitchburg and Lowell electric road at the schoolhouse at the Willows in Ayer and run through into Park square, Boston, over the Boston Elevated Street Railway tracks. The distance is thirty-five miles and the proposed time from Ayer to Boston is one and a quarter hours.

Inquest. The inquest in the death of William T. Reynolds of Somerville, who died here as the result of a railroad accident here on the morning of October 29, was held in the district court room this week Friday morning, Judge Warren H. Atwood presiding.

The first witness was medical examiner, Frank S. Bulkeley, who stated that he was called to the scene of the accident, which was at a point between Flanagan's and Lapointe's crossings on the west bound track of the Boston and Lowell railroad on the morning of October 29. From his examination of the body he thought the young man might have been dead from two to four hours before his arrival. The doctor also stated that he feared was caused by a hemorrhage following the amputation of the leg by the cars. In the pockets was a receipt from a Boston clothing firm and a small amount of money. The identity of the young man was learned through the receipt and his father was notified.

Thomas F. Mullin, court officer, was the next witness. Mr. Mullin told the court of the investigation of the case by request of the court and showed a plan of the ground about which and at which the accident happened. The witness also told of going to Somerville and interviewing persons connected with the case and of summoning Christopher Eustis of Somerville.

Christopher Eustis of Somerville proved to be the most important witness of the day as through him the mystery of the accident and the resultant death of young Reynolds was cleared up. Eustis stated that on the night before the accident that he in company with James Leahy, another Somerville young man, and William T. Reynolds, who met with the fatal accident, met and after being for a short time together, the trio decided to go to Syracuse, N. Y. They went to the East Somerville freight yard and boarded an oil tank car on a west bound freight, which left sometime between eleven and twelve o'clock, the exact time being unknown to the witness. After the train started all three rode on the end of the car in a standing position. After a time Eustis sat down and fell asleep, leaving his two companions standing. When Eustis awoke Reynolds was missing.

According to calculations and from evidence presented Eustis must have awoke about the time he left Ayer, as he stated that he had been awake five minutes before the train reached Fitchburg. He did not know the names of the places he passed through as it was very dark and he was unfamiliar with the territory between Boston and Fitchburg.

Miss Agnes Reynolds of Somerville, a sister of the dead young man, told of her brother leaving home on the night preceding the accident, after supper, which was the last she had seen of him alive.

C. E. G. Conner, conductor of extra freight train No. 2668, who discovered the body, said that his train arrived in Ayer from Boston at 5:50 on the morning of the accident. While the freight crew was about its work of unloading the train, he saw the body lying at the point previously described. He at once notified medical examiner Bulkeley and had one of the crew stay with the body till that official came. Witness said that the train left Boston between 2:30 and three o'clock a. m. on the morning of the accident. Mr. Golland told the court that it was his opinion that young Reynolds came to his death by being thrown between the cars after the train had started following a stop for a signal which was set against it.

The evidence showed that the young man had an excellent reputation and was well liked by everybody who knew him.

A letter received from his employers by his father speaks in the highest terms of the young man and conveys the sympathy for the sudden bereavement.

At the conclusion of the evidence the hearing was adjourned, the court reserving its decision.

District Court. James J. Lee and Charles Richardson, both giving their residences as Wakefield, were found guilty of vagrancy Thursday and their cases placed on file on the court docket. They are to return to their homes at once. Both defendants were young fellows who had evidently left home for what they considered a good time and reached here by freight early Thursday morning. They were taken to the police station by a division railroad yard by Constable Lyman J. Taylor, who took them into custody.

Leonard A. Bowler was found guilty of drunkenness and for disorderly conduct in a street railway car Wednesday morning and placed on probation for one year.

Wedding. A pretty wedding was solemnized at a high mass at nine o'clock, Monday morning, November 10, at the immaculate Conception church, Lowell, when William Auclair, of Nashua, N. H., and Miss Margaret McCarron, of Waverley, formerly of this town, were united in marriage by Rev. Fr. Sullivan. Charles McCarron acted as best man and Miss Grace Bradley as bridesmaid. The bride was attired in a blue charmeuse gown and wore a picture hat and carried a bouquet of roses. The bridesmaid was also attired in a blue silk gown and wore a picture hat.

A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. M. Bradley, of Waverley. The happy couple left on the midnight train for New York city, Montreal, Canada, Troy and Brooklyn. The newly-wedded couple received many handsome gifts consisting of silverware, cut glass, china and so on. Their friends after April 1. Guests were present from Littleton, Lowell, Ayer, Groton, Boston, and Northfield and Nashua, N. H.

St. Andrew's. The annual parish meeting was held at Groton School Monday evening, November 10. The Rev. Fr. Sullivan presided. The Rev. Fr. Sullivan presided in Ayer in time for a short service at 7:30 in Groton chapel. A business meeting was opened in Gardner hall where reports from the treasurers and officers of other organizations were read. There followed an election of wardens, vestrymen and delegates for the coming year. Refreshments were then served during the reading of two clever dialect stories. The following are the officers elected:

Judge George A. Sanderson, senior warden; E. H. Hickey, junior warden; George A. Cook, Jr., D. Chester Parsons of Shirley, Dr. Austin Peters of Harvard, William Burnett of Forke Fitchburg, Elmer E. Wilkins and Harry N. Brown of Groton, Groton, clerk; Bertson Williams, treasurer; Bertson Williams, secretary; St. Andrew's delegates to diocesan convention; Dr. Austin Peters, Miles Collins of Groton, warden; Chester Parsons, delegates to the archdiocesan at Lowell.

Members of other churches and especially those who do not attend church regularly are earnestly asked to attend service at St. Andrew's at eleven o'clock on Sunday morning. The sermon will interpret the prophet Jonah so largely misunderstood by christian people today. Come and strengthen your belief in the Bible as God's word and hear the real story of Jonah.

On Friday evening members of the parish will be welcomed at the Shirley vicarage.

Vandalism. The summer home of Mrs. A. S. Burnham, of Revere, at Woodsville, was recently the scene of daring vandalism. Frank Kemp one day last week discovered the door of the house open and upon investigation found the house in a terrible condition. Furniture had been smashed, beds torn up, paint and varnish spilled on the floors, groceries scattered around, the whole house being in a state of confusion. As it is said that nothing was stolen the work is thought to have been purely vandalism. Mrs. Burnham has placed the matter in the hands of the local police, but up to the present the guilty parties have not been found. The damage will probably amount to several hundred dollars. It is not known exactly when the work took place, but it must have been recently, as the Burnhams spent their home about two weeks ago. One night recently some one broke a number of windows at the home of Oscar Haradon at the North, during Mr. Haradon's absence. It is thought that this may have been the work of the same parties.

Chicken pox is prevalent in district No. 3.

There will be a poverty party given by the Lone Star club in town hall on Saturday evening, November 15. Music by McNally's orchestra of Hudson. Prizes will be offered for the most poverty stricken costume worn by lady and gentleman.

Death. Mrs. Caroline Wetherbee died in Somerville last week at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Raymond, with whom she had made her home for some time. She was a member of the Blanchard family that for many years has taken a prominent part in the affairs of this town and been noted for their shrewd business capacity.

One of the few remaining school-boys Mrs. Wetherbee, when she went to No. 3 school really poorly, fluently she solved all the difficult examples in the old Colburn's arithmetic and was a particularly bright pupil in all studies. As a woman she was much interested in financial affairs and current events, keeping up to the times in reading and was a most interesting conversationalist.

She was in her eighty-fourth year and was the last daughter of the Simon Blanchard family. She leaves one brother, John Blanchard, of West Acton; also, seven children—three sons and four daughters. Her funeral was at her daughter's home in West Acton on Sunday afternoon and was buried here in the South cemetery beside other members of the family.

TOWNSEND. Center. Mr. and Mrs. James Woolley, of East Boston, are at their summer home here this week superintending the painting of their house.

Miss Kellerman, of Havana, is spending a few days with her brother, the telephone inspector, at the Park hotel.

The funeral of Miss Margaret E. Donovan, an account of whose death has already been given, will be held from St. Bernard's church, Fitchburg, on Saturday morning at ten o'clock. Miss Donovan was sixty-three years old and is survived by two brothers, John and Jeremiah, with whom she lived, and by three sisters, Mrs. Tracie Kane and Mrs. Ryan of Fitchburg. She was a native of Charlestown and has resided at the family home for many years, caring for the comfort of the family, and her gentle ways and many kindnesses will be missed by all who had the pleasure of being neighbors or friends.

Harbor. In view of the shortage of ice during the past season and also on account of the difficulty of a number of the families have experienced who depend on ice carts for their supply, Mr. Blodgett has already built a dam and is overflowing a small tract of land, thus making a pond from which he expects to cut sufficient ice to meet the demands of the village. Work will begin on the icehouse soon.

Word was received recently from Lynn that by the birth of a daughter, Dorris Phillips, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heywood Greene, Mrs. Harry Bryant has become a great-aunt.

Mrs. Greene was formerly Miss Gladys Hamm, and during her visits to her great-aunt, had made many friends in this vicinity.

Death. Last Sunday afternoon Kenneth, the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Paley, of South row, died of diphtheria. The previous Thursday Kenneth attended school as usual. One of the pupils, a young son of William Russell, who was in the same room in which Kenneth was enrolled, had developed diphtheria, considerable uneasiness was felt among the parents, the father of whom was keeping their child at home. Thursday afternoon Mrs. Paley remarked to friends that she also would keep her son from school and on Friday Kenneth remained at home. It was on this day that he was taken sick. Although on Saturday his condition was no better, still his condition was not considered critical. Saturday night and Sunday, however, he was a very sick boy and at half past three in the afternoon the end came.

Mr. Kenneth was a bright lad, overflowing with life and a boy through and through. In many ways his mind was developed in advance of his years. Although but nine years old Kenneth had shown so strong a tendency toward mechanic arts, that already his parents had decided to send him to a school of technology when he had reached a suitable age.

This fall, at the beginning of the school year, Kenneth received a double promotion. Last spring he began taking piano lessons and was making good progress. Mr. and Mrs. Paley have the deep sympathy of the entire community.

GRANGE FAIRS.

Two Notable Ones Held This Fall in New England.

New England certainly "leads the world" in grange fairs. In many places these fairs take the place of county and town fairs and, in fact, are a good equivalent for the average county fair. They are managed by farmers, and there are no failures. Herein there may be a hint worth considering by the managers of county fairs—namely, to put farmers on their boards of directors.

One of the most notable of these grange fairs was the one held by the East Haddam (Conn.) grange, and the managers proved beyond all question that the raising of cattle and particularly of oxen is not a lost art. At this local grange fair 119 yoke of oxen were exhibited, whose value, reckoned at an average price per yoke of $200, would make the string worth nearly $24,000. Of course there were other departments than cattle at this fair, but this so far eclipsed all others and, indeed, surpassed most eastern state fairs in the exhibit of oxen that it becomes a noteworthy subject for comment. This fair, by the way, was the seventeenth annual exhibition of the East Haddam Grange Fair association.

At North Stonington, Me., another large grange fair was held. It was a three days' exhibition and is in reality the county fair, although strictly under the auspices of the grange. Here, too, 200 head of cattle were shown and lots of other stock. One exhibitor showed eighty-six varieties of apples, and one exhibit was much commented on because it took only 165 apples to fill a sugar barrel. They averaged twelve to the peck.

We cite these two fairs as examples of what granges are doing to place agriculture, or fairs as representatives of agriculture, at the front. Granges have also co-operated with the county fair associations in many towns instead of holding fairs of their own and always to the advantage of the fair. It is a good indication. The grange is primarily and in reality an agricultural organization, and whatever advances agricultural interests advances grange interests, and the converse of the proposition is also true.

TRAVELING LIBRARIES.
Grange Scheme That Has Worked Out Successfully in Ohio.

The grange traveling library is a feature of education work in some states that is proving very valuable. Our attention was recently directed to such a library scheme in a county in Ohio where the various granges of the county have formed a library association, the officers of which are a superintendent of librarians and the librarian of each grange that owns a library. The libraries cost $12 each, and each grange in the association has one library in its possession all the time. Each grange has control of its own library, can buy or sell books, provided the value of the library is not allowed to fall below $12. It is the duty of the librarian to keep a record of the books, the cost of each volume and the number of times each book has been drawn from the library. On these various matters he reports to the superintendent of librarians every three months. It is the duty of the latter officer to present the subject of libraries to each grange in the county, asking those not members of the library association if they will purchase a library and become members, or, in case they are already in the association, if they will add new books to their library. Care is taken that there be no duplicates among the books. This seems to be a very feasible working plan for a grange to have the benefit of the reading of a large number of books during the year at a very slight expense, and it is to be commended to granges everywhere.

Moving Pictures For Farmers.
Until suitable moving pictures can be developed the stereopticon will furnish a very interesting entertainment for an hour in the grange. Such an evening is being followed in an Ohio grange, when the following, among other slides were shown:

Longfellow's "Village Blacksmith" (six slides); "The Bridge" (four slides); "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," sung by the grange from the slides; "The Independence Ball" (six slides); views of Chicago's stockyards.

In all about fifty pictures were shown, which made a decided change from any program the grange had ever had presented. We pass the idea (which is by no means a new one) along with the suggestion that those granges that have never had such a program try it.

The Grange Fair.
The distinctively grange fair is coming to be a fixed institution in many states. The exhibits are confined to grangers, and small premiums are awarded. Indeed, in some sections the grange fair is really more of an agricultural show than is the regular county fair. It is, of course, of narrower limitations, but it affords a means of pleasant rivalry among grange members and incidentally is a means of advancing the agricultural interests of the community. Where there is a good grange agricultural show there is sure to be a live grange. The best grangers are those that are doing most for the community in which they are located.

TOWNSEND.

Center.

The operetta "Little Bo-Peep" given by the grammar school students last week Friday evening at Memorial hall was finely presented and the children out-did themselves in their respective parts. The costumes were especially pleasing and the whole affair showed that much time had been spent in drilling the singers; also, in making the costumes and by the scholars themselves in carefully rehearsing their songs. Violet McKenzle was accompanied and Howard Morse gave the synopsis of the story before the operetta began. Irene McGuire made a very nice Bo-Peep and Orville McKenzle sang finely his solo "Little Boy Blue." Others who sang solos were Miss Whitcomb and Mr. Walte. There were also duets and trios. During intermission between the scenes candy was sold by young ladies in costume carrying decorated baskets.

There have been two cases of diphtheria in town the past week and several cases of tonsillitis among the school children, the case of Fred Palfreyman's little 8 1/2-year-old boy resulting in death. The schools have been ordered closed for one week to await developments and to have the building. Mr. Palfreyman's little boy was taken sick the latter part of last week with what appeared to be a bronchial attack to which he has sometimes been subject, and the disease had made rapid progress before anti-toxin could be used to advantage. All extend much sympathy for Mr. and Mrs. Palfreyman, it being their only child.

Melvin Davis is having his house painted a very pretty shade of gray. It will make a fine appearance when finished.

The personal property belonging to Ransom B. Adams, situated in the northerly part of Shirley, near the railroad line, will be sold at public auction on Tuesday afternoon, November 19, at two o'clock. Lawrence Morgan, auctioneer.

Walter F. Rockwood is enjoying a hunting trip with friends from Pepperell at Warren, N. H., this week.

William Russell's little boy was the first to come down with the diphtheria last week and had a very light case of it. There are no more cases reported as yet.

The burial of Fred Palfreyman's little son, who died on Sunday evening of diphtheria, was on Tuesday afternoon with prayers first at the house, Walter Wilder officiating.

The farce and other exercises which were to have been held at the grange on Monday evening had to be postponed on account of the furnishing of the school building in which the hall is.

A party of eight attended the grange celebration at Ashby last week Thursday evening and reported a very enjoyable time.

The next dancing school will be held on Friday evening, November 21, at Memorial hall.

Mrs. Mary Davis, of Forest Hills, is visiting at Mrs. Oren Bruce's; also, with other relatives in town.

Last week Friday, the Country club met with Mrs. Emma Powell and enjoyed a pleasant afternoon with lunch served as usual. The topic of "England" is to be taken up this winter and Mrs. Annie Greenleaf read a very interesting paper on that subject. The next meeting is changed to this week Friday instead of two weeks from the last meeting and will be held at Mrs. Charles Adams's.

The townspeople were startled and saddened this week by the knowledge of the sudden death of Miss Margaret Donovan at her home on South row, Townsend, on Wednesday evening. Miss Donovan died of cerebral hemorrhage, an ailment which she had shortly after doing some trading at the fish cart and never recovered consciousness. She was a woman of exemplary character and of a kind and motherly disposition and made an excellent housekeeper for her two brothers, John and Jerry. They were a very devoted family and her place in the household cannot well be filled.

Death. The body of Andrew Shattuck, of Reeds Ferry, N. H., late of Townsend, was brought here for burial on Wednesday afternoon, the burial services being in charge of the North Star lodge, I. O. O. F., of which he was a member. Since leaving Townsend, where he was last employed by Robbins Brothers at their meat market, he has been in failing health, although able to be about at Reeds Ferry, where he busied himself by doing a little coopering. He died from the effects of heart disease after an ill turn Sunday, and only survived his wife, the late Emma Shattuck, by eleven weeks.

Among those who came from out-of-town were Daniel Sullivan and daughter, Miss Grace Sullivan, and Mrs. Herbert Sullivan and Mrs. Ada Parkhurst, of Reeds Ferry; Bert Saunders, of Derry, N. H.; Mrs. Flora Shattuck Graham, of Greenville, N. H.

Mr. Shattuck was for several years proprietor of the Squannacook hotel at the West village and was a brother of the late George Shattuck, of this town, and he and his wife both have lived here more or less during their lives.

West. Rev. Fred Robinson, of Worcester, occupied the Baptist pulpit as a supply last Sunday morning and evening, speaking in the morning on "The harvest time" and in the evening on "The voice of the physician." He also delivered a brief temperance address at the Brotherhood meeting in the vestry at noon, the Sunday school attending in a body. Mr. Robinson is a very eloquent speaker and is very popular at the church, and in spite of the inclement weather had a large audience at each service.

The Y. P. S. C. E. service was held in the vestry at six o'clock with an attendance of fifteen. The meeting was conducted by Miss Alice Seaver and the topic was "The Christian's home life."

Mrs. Hattie Blood has moved from the Tenney tenement on Main street to her Melvin's cottage on the edge of town, which she recently purchased and Mr. Melvin left this week for Ayer, where he will make his home with his niece, Mrs. Potter.

Alden Sherwin has been spending a few days in Quincy, returning Tuesday, accompanied by his wife and his daughter, who have been spending several weeks at Mrs. Sherwin's home.

The Ladies' Study club will hold their fortnightly meeting at the reading-room on Monday evening, the topic being "Religion and legends of Japan," in charge of Miss M. Ellinor Tower.

Miss Georgie Michaels, of Quincy, is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Alden A. Sherwin.

Edward Welch, of Rochester, N. H., and Miss Alice Welch, of Everett, N. H., been recent guests of their mother, Mrs. Mary Welch, at Mrs. Charles H. Morgan's.

Mrs. M. O'Connell, of West Acton, a former resident here, has been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Welch.

Rev. Fred Robinson, of Worcester, was entertained at the home of Mrs. Lucy A. Lawrence on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Willard, of Dorchester, spent the week-end with Mr. James A. Willard.

Marcellus Hodgman, of Greenville, N. H., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Hodgman.

Frank Hamilton, of Webster, has been spending a few days with his mother, Mrs. Augustus Stevens, of Stevens Hill.

Miss Helen Plummer spent the week-end at her home in Somerville and Mrs. Fred Patch visited in the postoffice during her absence.

Miss Clara Hosley, of Bayberry hill, has been spending a few days with friends in Princeton.

Mrs. Herman W. Lawrence is visiting Mrs. M. O'Connell, of West Acton, and spent Wednesday in Boston.

Mrs. Kirby, who has been boarding at the Squannacook for the past few months, is spending a few weeks in Fitchburg.

The Ladies' Liberal Aid society met at the home of Mrs. Abel G. Stearns on Wednesday afternoon with a good attendance. One of the pleasing features of the meeting was the presence of the president, Miss Mary Street of Josselynville, who was carried to the gathering.

A little son was welcomed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Beckwith, of Josselynville, Saturday evening.

The business meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E. was held at the home of Miss Alice Seaver on Wednesday evening with ten present and was followed by a meeting of the social committee to discuss the postponed social which will be held the last of the month.

The Baptist Benevolent society will hold their annual fair and entertainment at Seminary hall on Wednesday evening, November 19. Some of the features of the sale will be a mystery table, a handkerchief table, home-made candy, fancy work and cream and cake. The program will consist of special music and a farce entitled "Pa's new housekeeper." A small admission fee will be charged.

Oren Powers has taken Matti Tumbar's place assisting Charles Patch at the stables.

Brotherhood Banquet. The West Townsend Brotherhood held their regular monthly banquet at the Baptist vestry on last week Thursday evening in form of an oyster supper served by the social committee in charge of Alexander Reed and the ladies in charge of Mrs. Fred A. Patch and Mrs. R. S. Ely. About fifty were present and the speaker of the evening was Rev. J. A. Walker, of Arlington, formerly of the Highland Baptist church of Fitchburg.

The president, Dr. R. S. Ely, presided over the meeting and several very pleasing solos were rendered by Robert Copeland, of the Center, Miss Emma Adams, acting as accompanist. Mr. Walker brought greetings from the former pastor and wife, Rev. and Mrs. S. D. Ringrose, of Fitchburg, where he spent the day, and delivered a most profitable address on "The value of little things."

The guests of the evening, William Reed and Ernest Wilson, from Ashby, were also called upon for speeches, and remarks were listened to from Alexander Reed, of Ashby, and Perry W. Sawtelle, Herman L. Stickney and G. A. Seaver, of this village, and Mrs. Kirby, from Boston, after which the affair closed with the singing of "America" by the audience.

BROOKLINE, N. H.

News Items. The grammar school will give an entertainment at Tarbell's hall on Tuesday evening, November 18. The proceeds will go towards purchasing some articles of furniture for the new schoolroom.

Mrs. Fernando Shattuck at South Brookline received her friends in honor of her eightieth birthday anniversary recently. Mrs. Minnie Ross, a daughter; Linville and Eldoris Shattuck, sons of Mrs. Shattuck; Mrs. Augusta Gould, a sister-in-law, with neighbors who called, made the day a memorable one for the aged one. Many pretty gifts and cards were received. Mrs. Shattuck is quite well at present for one of her advanced age.

Talk about improvements in Brookline—electric lights, sidewalks, etc.—it must be that farming is improving also when Samuel Fuller raises eight-pound beets. Mr. Fuller exhibited one a week ago that weighed eight pounds and also presented his neighbors with nice crisp lettuce grown in the open on October 28. Mr. and Mrs. Fuller have always been congratulated on their fine garden, but the eight-pound beet beats them all. The vegetable was of fine grain and make a large crop of pickled beet.

On Tuesday evening, November 4, thirty members of Brookline grange visited with Hollis grange and had a very enjoyable time.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hale, Mr. Lejoij, of Hollis, Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien, Mrs. George French, Mrs. Emma Seaver, of Townsend, were in town this week.

Wednesday, November 5, the Loyal Workers were cordially received and entertained at the home of their president, Mrs. Eliza Betterley, on Mason road. A good attendance and a pleasant afternoon with readings by Mrs. Hattie Stiles and Mrs. Susie French was enjoyed. Tea with cake and wafers was served at 4.45 by the hostess.

The following are wearing medals given by the Boston Journal as prizes for writing a story on the subject of "Why I think my teacher is the best in New England": Eva Corey, Elyna Ouellette, Frances Farnsworth, Grace Taylor, Charlotte Jensen, Rhea Brown, Willie Riordan, Wilfred Ouellette, George Stanley, Roy Taylor, Miss Porter, and O'Connell.

The Brookline friends of Augustus Wheeler, of Nashua, extend their sympathy to him and family in their affliction. Mr. Wheeler is suffering with a cancer on the lip, for which he has been operated upon, but it seems to do no good. His friends, one and all, wish he might soon recover from this painful illness.

On last week Friday Prof. George Cross gave his celebrated lecture on "Washington, the beautiful capitol of a great nation." A good audience was present. After the lecture a social dance was enjoyed.

About the same number as usual are employed in making laurel wreaths and festooning.

Mrs. Ethel Melves and daughter Lillian spent last Sunday in Boston with relatives.

Mr. Greenleaf, of Hollis, was a recent guest in town.

The auction at the Elmwood of the property owned by the late Mrs. Lucilla Feabody took place on last Saturday. The day was stormy and cold, yet a good many were present, and from nine in the morning until six in the evening O. D. Fessenden, auctioneer, sold a large amount of goods of all kinds. A half hour at noon for lunch and the selling was resumed. The Elmwood was bid off by Arthur A. Goss, of this town, and the sprout land in the western part of the town by Alpha A. Hall, of this town.

Fred Rockwood is in the hospital in New Jersey, having been operated upon November 10. He is expected to return to his home in about two weeks.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Barber on Tuesday morning, November 11.

Cards and letters report Elbert Baldwin in good health in Spokane, Wash. They have had very little rain this fall in the section where he is located. Mr. and Mrs. Horace Richmond, former Brookline residents, are pleasantly located at Portland, Ore.

Entertainment. All who are interested in assisting in an entertainment for the purpose of repairing and lighting the Methodist church are invited to meet at the vestry on Tuesday evening at 7.30 o'clock. A good number were present and it was voted to have a festival in the new hall on Friday evening, December 12. O. D. Fessenden was elected as chairman of the evening and the following committees were chosen: O. D. Fessenden, Elva Corey, Jennie Boutelle, entertainment; Misses Blanche Fessenden, Ethel Taylor, Mabel Peppie, Lila Barnaby, Clara Russell, of the Meade, candy table; Mrs. Etta Swett and Mrs. S. French, fancy and apron table; Mr. and Mrs. George Betterley, supper, the committees to chose their own helpers. Herbert Corey, Harry Corey and one Gileson were elected to look after the sale of tickets, and Chester Barnaby as assistant in the hall and in the banquet hall.

LITTLETON.

News Items. On Wednesday afternoon, November 13, Mrs. Edith Salter entertained the Woman's Missionary society of the Baptist church. The subject will be "A missionary contest," from missions.

The literary and library extension committee will hold a conference in the afternoon of the 14th at the Walnut avenue Congregational church, corner of Dale street and Walnut avenue, Roxbury, Thursday afternoon, November 20, at two o'clock. The program promised is interesting and will be presented by every club member upon presentation of card at the door with the name and club represented.

Mrs. F. E. Tenney, of Worcester, recently spent a few days with her husband's people in Littleton.

Mrs. William H. Tenney, who has been in the town for a month, is slowly improving.

George W. Whitcomb has moved into his new home at the Center, where he has made many repairs and improvements.

The dance given in the town hall by the high school juniors last week Friday evening gave an opportunity for a pleasant social and a royal good time. Thayer's orchestra furnished music for the occasion.

Mrs. John Maleck and son John made a brief visit at W. H. Tenney's last week previous to their departure for their new home in Salt Lake City. Mr. Maleck presented Mrs. Tenney with a copy of Mrs. Katherine Laline's new book "Eve," just published this month.

Nineteen young people from the C. E. societies of the Baptist and Congregational churches attended the annual meeting in Concord, November 10, during the trip in a barge. Rev. Harrie W. Chamberlain, president of the State Union; Dr. McCluskey, treasurer, and Rev. Carl Stackman, secretary, were the speakers. Miss E. E. Tenney attended the supper given to the pastors and presidents of the local societies previous to the meeting.

Historical Society. At the annual meeting of the Littleton Historical society, the former officers were re-elected. Joseph A. Harwood, who, although absent for a part of the year, keeps in close touch with the affairs of his native town, was re-appointed its historian and the care of the scrapbook was again entrusted Mrs. J. M. Hartwell. Two or three of these books are at the library well filled with many interesting records and mementoes.

After the transaction of the usual routine business, a very interesting and informal conversation followed, relating mainly to topics connected with the proposed celebration of the coming year of the 200th anniversary of the incorporation of this town.

Permanent and temporary markings of old landmarks and places of historic interest were discussed; also, priority of erection of some of the old houses of the town. E. Frost, Rev. O. J. Fairfield and Hon. F. Patch were appointed a committee to locate places suitable for inscriptions or other marking and Mrs. C. A. Hosmer was delegated to write for the society a personal reminiscence in connection with Liberty square with such other related items as might be obtainable.

The conversation and discussion brought a closer realization both of the coming celebration and the gradual progress in the settlement of the town since the days of the "Nashobah Plantation" and the passing of the Indian reservation at Newtown into the possession of the pale faces of the new regime.

M. E. Somes presented to the society, through the secretary, a gambrel found on land formerly owned by Capt. Todd. The gambrel, often called gambel, was marked in cut letters "E. B. Todd '83."

Mr. Patch presented for Miss Grace Marion Prue a clapboard taken from a house in Plymouth built in 1685, on the lot adjoining that of the Pilgrim John Howland. Miss Prue is a lineal descendant of John and Elizabeth Tilley Howland.

A CONSUMPTIVE COUGH. A cough that bothers you continually is one of the danger signals which warns of consumption. Dr. King's New Discovery stops the cough, loosens the chest, banishes fever, and lets you breathe peacefully. The first dose checks the symptoms and gives prompt relief. Mrs. F. E. Teriz, of Glen Elder, Iowa, writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery cured a stubborn cough after six weeks' doctoring failed to help." Try the same for you. Best medicine for coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles. Money back if it fails. Sold everywhere. H. E. Buckles & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.

Milady's Mirror

Sports Help Good Looks. The best exercises for women, says a physical director in a girls' college, are those that are simply good fun and have no such special object as the winning of a match.

I would not for worlds forbid women to play games like tennis, hockey and golf, provided that they will not take them seriously.

The two essentials of any form of physical exercise are that it should be enjoyable and that it should be rhythmic. If you enjoy thoroughly, your muscles may get fatigued, but your nerve force will not get exhausted, and if the exercise is rhythmic, if it goes with a swing that brings every muscle of the body into play, then the fatigue will be that glorious, glowing lassness of body.

The secret of that swing, of that rhythm, is this: The body must move the limbs and not the limbs the body. Watch a fine walker, a fine oarsman, a fine jumper. It is always the body that lifts and impels the limb. There, indeed, you have the secret of grace in every action of life—you must make a gesture with your whole body; with your whole will.

A great weakness of golf, as of most other games played with a handle, is that the clubs must be swung on the right side of the body.

Instead of correcting the unwise preference we give to the right hand, such games accentuate it whereby one set of muscles (and one part of the brain) are developed at the expense of another, while the unvaried swing from right to left puts the body out of poise.

Hockey, too, has this fault (though its rhythm is more varied and continuous) and has the additional one of a low crouched attitude which cramps the organs and impedes the breathing.

Tennis is some ways finer. This more than any other ball game exercises every part of the body harmoniously. Its poses and gestures are many and varied; the player gets a quick eye; a lightning flick of the wrist, the instantaneous speed of a cat on the pounce, the power to hit with arm and body curled or far extended, and, if he will and is wise, he may hold the racket indifferently in his right hand or his left.

Unfortunately, though the rhythm is continuous, it is jerky, and though the gestures are varied, few of them are noble—a tennis player rarely looks dignified—while, when the game is played well, the nervous tension (for women at least) is apt to be too great.

Fencing is too fine an exercise to be ignored. It gives sureness of poise, lightness of limb, grace of carriage and a quickness of eye and of wrist far greater than tennis gives. It commonly shares with golf the unwise preference for the right hand (though some are wise enough to fence with either hand), and it tends to overdevelop the muscles of the wrist and arm.

As to horse riding, there is no sport more exhilarating. There is nothing in motion more splendid than the free movement of the brave creature under you, his quick response to hand or foot, the mingled sense of hazard and security, the sense of being launched in air, the flashing picture of the way and the quick whistle of the wind.

But riding may be overdone, even by strong women. The woman who rides to hounds is a fine picture on horseback, but she is not always graceful on foot.

Brushing the Teeth. In brushing the teeth use the brush downward for the upper teeth and from the gums upward for the lower teeth. By this method the bristles go between the teeth as well as over the front and sides. The teeth always must be recognized for what they are—valuable adjuncts to both beauty and health. Consequently no pains are too great to secure perfect cleanliness of the teeth and mouth. If there is too much acidity in the system the teeth will decay quickly and much suffering will be entailed. To counteract this an alkaline dentifrice should be used.

If the teeth are yellow or show discolored spots a little powdered pumice stone can be used. It should be slightly moistened so that it will adhere to the orange wood stick with which it is rubbed on the spots. After brushing the teeth an antiseptic mouth wash should be used.

Fat Women Must Avoid Tight Clothes. The roly poly fat woman, short and dumpy; the very tall big woman who is fatter than she wants to be and all the other types of stout women are clamoring for the costume which will give them long lines. The well dressed stout woman learned long ago that if she would look her best she must avoid tight clothes. She must also ignore the costume that is conspicuous, whether it is the fabric, the color or the design which makes it so, says the Woman's Home Companion.

Soft materials which drape easily, striped fabrics where the stripe is not too pronounced and neutral colors are all things which the stout woman should consider in planning her clothes. Purple, navy blue, the darkest of browns and greens and deep toned taupe are all becoming and appropriate colors for the very stout woman.

PEPPERELL.

Current Events. Mrs. Mary C. Henry is at the home of her daughter, Mrs. F. B. Simmons, after assisting in caring for Mrs. Jerry Lorden during her convalescence from her recent confinement.

Mrs. M. E. Swasey is having her house painted the popular shades of light gray with white trimmings. C. M. Bolleg and assistants are the painters.

Lyman Robbins and wife are moving this week from their old home on Pleasant street to their new one in Dunstable. Their neighbors regret their going and Mr. Rowell regrets losing an honest, industrious clerk.

Frank Williams' family moved recently from their tenement over the blacksmith shop to one of Palmer's tenements on Main street.

E. F. McCord has severed his connection with the Mould Shoe Company. He recently returned from a business trip to New York.

George T. Greenhalgh, of Pawtucket, R. I., was in town at the Page farm last week and on Saturday went to Exeter, N. H., to witness a football game in which his son was interested. Mr. Greenhalgh is often in town and takes an active interest in farming. He has already twenty head of stock and recently added some fine registered Guernsey stock.

A. H. Harris captured two fine coon on the night of the 12th. They were on exhibition at the station the next day.

Mrs. A. A. Blood, of Gardner, came to town on Tuesday to attend the twenty-fifth anniversary of Acoma lodge. She spent the remainder of the week with her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Bartlett.

Mrs. Abbie Shattuck, of Townsend, was in town this week as the guest of Mrs. Warren Blood and other friends, and to attend the anniversary of Acoma lodge on Tuesday evening. Mrs. Ann Davis is quite low at her home at the East Village. The Rebekah lodge are sending some one to care for her during the nights, as she is one of their charter members.

Mrs. Herbert Raymond returned from a visit at Hopedale on Sunday. Ernest Nash, with his wife and daughter, visited at the home of O. M. Nash, Park street, over the weekend and Sunday. His aunt, Mrs. Nellie Plummer, accompanied them to Chelsea on their return for a short visit.

Edward Johnson has a plan to perfect the electric lighting arrangements in Railroad square, from Groton street to the river bridge, so that Pepprell can boast also a "white way." With this in view he has been interviewing all the merchants in this vicinity for contributions to aid in establishing the new system.

William Richards, the blacksmith, is in his shop again, having had to stop work about two weeks on account of the injury to his foot.

Mrs. Warren Blood has been entertaining Mrs. Melville Quackenbush, of Epping, N. H. Mr. Quackenbush was formerly in the employ of the Boston and Maine railroad here, but now has a position as night operator at Epping.

A special meeting of the United Order of Golden Cross will be held in their room at the Methodist vestry on Monday evening, November 17. Grand Commander Powers, formerly of Cambridge, but now of Groton, will be present and also several members of Longfellow Commandery, U. O. G. C., from Groton. It is probable that a collation at Upton's may be in order during the evening if arrangements can be perfected.

Frank T. Wright, brother of Postmaster Wright, has moved to his new house he recently purchased of William Willoby, Park street. He is installing town water and intends making other changes. Mr. and Mrs. Willoby have moved into the Mary L. P. Shattuck house on Park street.

Mrs. Louis Shattuck is painting her house on Groton street, occupied by Mrs. Coffey and Richard Tumpey, W. E. Chapman has the contract.

Mrs. C. H. Beaulieu has rented her little corner store owned by J. A. Lawrence for an overflow of live and ten-cent goods.

It is understood that the insurance on the "The Felchla," the fuel dealer, which was recently destroyed by fire, has not been adjusted and that the state police were in town on Wednesday looking over the premises. The building, which is owned by John Bennett, is completely demolished inside.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Chase, daughter Hazel and friend, Miss Lockwood, were recent guests in town, coming from Lowell in an auto recently purchased by Mr. Chase. He will be remembered as a former resident in town some years ago.

Mrs. H. F. Tarbell spent Friday of last week in Boston shopping.

George Keyes and family moved to Boston on Monday, where they have taken a residence for the winter on Chestnut Hill. As the residence of E. H. Baker on Keyes' hill is already closed for the winter, this leaves the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Keyes the only one occupied in that vicinity.

Frank Goff, of Concord, has been in town the past week, occupying the quarters he built near his former residence on High street. He came for a little hunting with some of his old companions in the sport.

Mr. and Mrs. George Martin have been visitors this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Shaw, Pleasant street.

Miss H. L. Lawrence went to Chelsea on Friday of last week to attend a birthday anniversary of an aged uncle. She returned home on Tuesday of this week.

Mrs. Joshua Blood, a former resident on Park street, was in town last week visiting with her nephew in Connecticut.

Glen Upson has recently taken a week's vacation from his duties in the office of the Boston and Albany railroad, South station, Boston. He visited relatives in New York state, going as far west as Buffalo. This is the first vacation he has asked for since entering the employ of the railroad company.

Harry Shellington and wife, of Norwich, Conn., have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Pike this week. Earl Farnsworth, of Norwood, was in town last week on business. Mrs. Farnsworth and infant accompanied him, making a flying call of one hour at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Andrews.

John Frossard was in Boston on Tuesday and Wednesday on business. The Odd Fellows' ball to be held in Prescott hall on Friday evening, November 14, promises to be more than the usual success if the plans of the committee are carried out. Newell's orchestra, of Marlboro, have been engaged to furnish the music.

The remains of John Gibson Shattuck were brought to this town last Thursday from Chicago. Final funeral services were held at Woodlawn cemetery, Friday afternoon at two o'clock, Rev. R. W. Drawbridge officiating. Mr. Shattuck was the son of the late Putnam and Mary Shattuck, of this town, but for many years has been located in the west. He was seventy-two years of age.

Miss Blanche Suprenant arrived home from her trip to Michigan on last Saturday. On her way home she stopped at Troy, N. Y., to visit relatives there. We understand that she is ready to come back to New England, feeling satisfied that this section of the country is good enough for anyone. She can congratulate herself just at this time for having escaped the snow and blizzard that has been sweeping over the territory around the Great Lakes.

Miss Ethel Drown entertained a party of her friends on Monday evening at her home on Franklin street. About thirty were present and passed a very pleasant evening in various games and guessing contests. Refreshments were served to the guests and later the young hostess was given a surprise in the shape of a fine silver watch, as someone had discovered that the occasion was on the date of her birthday.

Early on Tuesday morning it was discovered that a chimney was burning out at the new Prescott hotel. The fire alarm system was found to be out of order and the whistle did not sound at all and the bell at the Center only half the time. Luckily the fire was easily distinguished before any damage occurred, as only a few of the firemen knew there was a fire.

Surprise Party and Shower. On Thursday evening of last week several of the members of the Epworth League and other friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Jullian Shattuck agreed to meet at a certain place and call upon the newly-married couple in a body. It was planned that since Mrs. Shattuck had been a resident of New York state previous to her marriage she might not know the full meaning of the old-fashioned surprise party with a "shower" attached. The hostess, however, proved herself equal to the emergency, announcing that she had participated in events of this nature, although in quite so prominent a manner. A very pleasant evening was enjoyed by all. The "shower" consisted of anything useful or ornamental which the donor chose to select and the result was some very pretty pieces of china and useful kitchen articles. Games and charades made the evening pass quickly, refreshments of cake and cocoa were served and the company returned to their homes, leaving with their host and hostess many good wishes.

Twenty-fifth Anniversary. The twenty-fifth anniversary of Acoma lodge was observed on Tuesday evening, November 11. The hall was tastefully decorated in the colors of the lodge, pink and green, intermingled with silver trimmings significant of the occasion. The members of Groton and Townsend lodges were present by invitation.

The entertainment consisted of piano solos by Miss Adele Boynton, selections by the Verdi male quartet and the vocalists and three selections by a reader, Miss Jessie Dell Lewis, also of Worcester. The Verdi quartet has already been before Pepprell audiences and therefore needs no recommendation, but on this occasion they were especially fine and were much enjoyed. Miss Lewis is a newcomer as an entertainer in town, but her selections and manner of rendering them were much praised and we hope to hear her again.

After the past noble grands followed the entertainment, there being twenty-five present. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served, the birthday cake for the lodge being a special feature. Through a huge dainty, ornamented with the lodge colors and silver, decorated with the correct number of candles, twenty-five.

One of the interesting features of the evening was the reading of the history of Acoma lodge by Miss Lydia Waite, who composed the same, as follows: Backward, turn backward, O Time in your flight. Let us review again, just for tonight, scenes that have passed from our sight. Guiding our foot-steps on. We have gathered here tonight to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of Rebekah.

If the curtain of time could be rolled backward to November 13, 1888, a much different picture would be presented to us than is set before us tonight. At that time, in the Oddfellows' hall, Lawrence Blood, East Pepperell, through the efforts of Brothers L. G. Robbins and George Jenks, Acoma lodge was instituted by Past Grand Sire and Grand Treasurer, Alfred S. Finkert of Worcester, a little band of forty-three making up the charter members. Of these, one hundred and sixteen, there would be, but nine to answer "Here."

For the past twenty-five years there has appeared on our rolls of members two hundred and forty-three names. For various reasons some have separated from our ranks and others have crossed the valley of shadow to the far away land. It is but fitting that we should make mention at this time of these brothers and sisters who have added their interest and efforts towards furthering our great work and their memory lingers with us in tender reverence. On Memorial Sunday each year they are especially near us, when we lay upon their resting places bright flowers, a silent tribute of our love.

In years, our two oldest members are Sister Ann Davis of East Pepperell and Brother Nathaniel Hobart of Brookline. Sister Ann Davis served our lodge for many years as treasurer, resigning her office on account of ill health. These two members are highly respected by all and in the springtime of their lives did much to further our interests. Block Brother L. G. Robbins whose interest in our lodge continues to this time, was our first noble grand. Owing to his constant, steady, cheerful endeavor, always willing and fulfilling and accomplishing his task, he sailed through many troubled waters which would have beset the beginner, launching on a great work. Our present deputy, Sister Kate Dunlap, is the only member of this lodge who has twice been installed noble grand, being called upon to receive the remainder of the year 1901. Noble Grand Sister Sara Ryder resigning on account of ill health.

To Sister Effie Robbins, our secretary, we owe much for her faithful work and watchfulness over the records and property of the lodge. She has served us continuously for the past seven years.

To Sister Jennie McCullough Hazen and our present deputy, Sister Kate Dunlap, is afforded the honor of being the office deputy who have filled the office of deputy over a considerable period. We have always felt a deep interest in our neighboring lodges and a most cordial relation has always existed between us. Some of our fairest recollections are the visits to these lodges and it has always afforded us great pleasure to have them with us here.

On different occasions the lodge has been presented with gifts and offered its needs supplied. The Ready Workers' Sewing Circle, an organization consisting of members of Acoma lodge. To this society we owe our heartfelt thanks.

The home of Acoma lodge has been changed many times. From Lawrence block we shortly moved to the Tarbell block. This was our place of meeting for a number of years. From there we moved to the vestry of the Methodist church, and after a period of three months, on the evening of April 12th, 1904, we held our first meeting in this hall. We are especially proud of these rooms and to our brothers of Beacon lodge we are indebted for the many privileges afforded us and the countless kindnesses shown us and we trust in our humble way we have been able to show in a measure our appreciation.

In connection with this our twenty-fifth anniversary, we also tender a reception to our noble grands, a custom which we have adhered to for many years and which is but a symbol of our appreciation for their untiring efforts in our behalf. The following are the names of those who have served this lodge in that capacity:

L. G. Robbins, Kate Dunlap, Effie M. Robbins, Jennie McCullough Hazen, Marion J. Tarbell, Ella F. Stevens, Abbie M. Giddens, Carrie V. Harriman, May C. Kidder, Nellie M. Gutterston, Mary Heath Blood, Hattie L. Shaw, Sarah E. Ryder, Sara Blood Hillott, Edna M. Giddens, Carrie V. Harriman, Mary L. Blood, Ida E. Robbins, Gertrude L. Tarbell, Jessie C. Parker, J. Idella, William Annie, Lora, Lora Noble, Louise Dunton, our present noble grand being Lillian A. McWilliams.

Many other events that have occurred during the past twenty-five years might be recorded here, but the silent deeds of kindness that have bound us together in friendship, love and truth can only be recorded in the great book of life, by Him, whose ever watchful eye understands the ways of His children.

So in the years to come let us each strive to do our best, remembering— There is always a river to cross. Always an effort to make. Always a duty to do. Always a God to win. Any rich prize to take. Yonder the fruit we crave. Yonder the charming scene. But of these things I doubtled tide is the river that lies between.

'Tis weary watching wave by wave, And yet the tide heaves onward; We climb, like corals, grave by grave, And higher and higher we stand; We're beaten back in many a fray, But newer strength we borrow, And on our conquering camps today The rear shall rest tomorrow.

Church Fair. The ladies of the Methodist society will hold their annual winter sale on Wednesday and Thursday, November 19 and 20. The dates have been changed from those previously announced, November 20 and 21, so as not to conflict with dates of any other organization, and to give everyone a chance to attend the sale. Thursday evening, which promises to be unusually good.

On Wednesday evening at six o'clock a supper of the good old New England kind was served with Mrs. Jerry Annis as chairman. The menu consisted of hot mashed potatoes, cold meats, baked beans and brown bread, squash, pumpkin and apple pies, Indian pudding, English plum pudding and fruit and cream. The entertainment will be served at seven o'clock. On Thursday afternoon, at three o'clock, the sale of fancy articles, aprons, food, candy, ice cream and mysteries will be open, to continue through the evening. An entertainment will be held on Thursday evening also, commencing at 7.45 o'clock. There will be piano solos by Miss Adele Boynton and Gertrude Cherry, and a piano duet by Gertrude Cherry and E. Shepard; also, a vocal duet by Mrs. Louise Lawrence and Miss Alice Marshall. Mrs. May Templeton Shattuck, who has but recently come among us, but whose reputation as a fine musician preceded her, has kindly consented to give two selections. The entertainment will conclude with a farce appropriate to the times. "When women vote," with the following cast of characters: Mrs. Jamieson, a suffragette, Mrs. Sue Doer; Helen her daughter, Miss Carrie E. Wright, Mrs. Brownell, Mrs. Stratton; Hannah, the maid, Mrs. Martin.

The whole affair is in charge of Mrs. F. B. Stratton, who is working hard to make it a success. The various tables will be in charge of the following ladies: Mrs. J. E. Andrews and Miss H. L. Lawrence, ice cream; Mrs. F. B. Simmons and Mrs. Fred Dunlap and Mrs. C. M. Gutterston, fancy articles; Mrs. Louise Lawrence and Alice Marshall, mysteries; Mrs. E. E. Handley and Mrs. W. G. Smalley, food and candy.

Grange Notes. An announced in last week's issue, a special meeting will be held by Prescott grange on Friday evening, November 21, when the third and fourth degrees will be worked on team candidates. The ladies' degree team, Mrs. Florence Kemp, president, will work the third degree, and the regular officers the fourth. A supper will be served in the banquet hall in charge of Mrs. George E. Shattuck, chairman. There will also be entertainment.

All trains led to Manchester, N. H., on Thursday as far as the local grange members were concerned, many going on the early morning trains to attend the National grange sessions now being held in New Hampshire. A train followed the 10.10 to Nashua, and this took many more from town, the three cars being fairly well filled when they reached here. Several intended taking the seventh degree, among them Mrs. E. J. Handley, Mrs. Ada Whitney, Mrs. F. B. Simmons, Miss Edna Kiltredge, Mrs. E. J. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Blood, Mr.

and Mrs. Walter Shattuck, Ralph Shattuck, Miss Lena McGrath, Miss Alice Deware, Miss Florence Kemp, Mrs. Minnie Green, Miss Sarah Tucker.

Pepprell Defeats Milford. The members of the football team of Pepprell high school drove to Milford, N. H., on Wednesday morning in Duran's big barge. They played the Milford high at Endicott park in the afternoon, defeating them 7 to 6. The Pepprell team scored on an eighty-yard run by Rouse. Each team was twice held for downs within a few yards of the goal. W. Johnson featured in several long runs, and with Ford, starred on the defense. The following is the summary:

News Items. The Pepprell Woman's club will hold their next meeting on Tuesday afternoon, November 18, in the vestry of the Congregational church. Subject, "The roads of Pepprell—old stage roads, old inns, the evolution of our roads, lost roads and the lost art of winter work and saunterings" by Miss Annetta S. Merrill. Current events will be given by Mrs. Eva B. Gage.

On Thursday, November 6, Mrs. Nellie M. R. Gutterston, Mrs. Roland H. Blood, Mrs. N. W. Appleton and Miss Marie Jordan attended the dedication exercises in Saunders theatre, Cambridge, of the flag staff in memory of the suffering and fortitude of the men and women of Cambridge in 1775-1783. An oration, "The history of our flag," was given by Hon. Curtis G. Wright, of the city by Mrs. Mary Isabella Gozzaldi and was accepted by the mayor in behalf of the city, after which all daughters were invited to the home of Mr. Gozzaldi to a reception of the very dainty lunch was served. This flag and flag staff cost $7000 and was the work of the A. R.

Miss Blanche Suprenant returned last week from Bay City, Mich., where she has been visiting her brother. She also made a few days' stay in New York city on her journey home.

Leslie Darling, of Brookfield, was at his home on Main street over Sunday.

Albert Everts, of Boston, was a week-end visitor at H. O. Tower's on High street.

Roger Robbins, of Tufts college, was at his home on Elliot street a few days this week.

Miss E. Maude Davis left town on Monday for New York city, where she will resume her duties for the Church Press Company.

Irving Church has sold his racing horse, S. R. Max, to a party in Lowell. The horse was well-known in town as it had won a number of local races.

Russell Wright has returned from Valleyfield, N. H., and will resume his duties at the Pepprell card shop in the near future.

Mrs. Abbie Shattuck, formerly of High street, now of Townsend, came the first of the week for a short vacation and to take in the festivities connected with the I. O. O. F. lodges.

Will some give the following books to the East Pepprell reading-room: "Inside the cup," "The Brewster boys," "The winning of Barbara Worth," "The call of the carpenter," "Miss Petticoats."

Miss Minnie Green and Miss Florence Kemp went on Thursday to Manchester to receive the seventh degree at the first class.

Mrs. Jennie McCullough Hazen, of Fitchburg, is spending a few days with Mrs. George Shaw.

Letters remaining uncalled for at the East Pepprell postoffice for the week ending November 10, are: Mrs. Clarence Perry, Ned Skinner, Herbert W. Wald.

The supper and concert of the Ladies' Social Circle at Central hall on Thursday evening of last week was a success in every way. The success in the presence of Mrs. Anderson, of Binghamton, N. Y., who came with her cousin, Mrs. Silas P. Shattuck, from Lowell, gave pleasure to many of her friends. A large automobile party from Lawrence also added to the interest of the occasion.

The annual Christmas sale of the L. S. C. Alliance Branch, will be held on Central hall on Thursday afternoon, December 4. A supper and concert will follow.

William Davis, who has been to the New Hampshire hills the past summer for his health, returned to his home on last week Thursday feeling much better.

Last week twelve members of the club from Leominster and Fitchburg, including Mrs. E. J. Darling, of Foster street is a member, came by auto and were entertained by her. A bountiful dinner was served at noon, after which the company engaged in games and cards. All expressed themselves as delighted with the visit, leaving a rousing vote of thanks for their hostess and hoping to come to Pepprell another year.

Emery J. Darling is at Newton this week, directing improvements in a paper mill as suggested by state inspectors.

Acoma Lodge Anniversary. The twenty-fifth anniversary of the organizing of Acoma lodge of Rebekah was held Tuesday evening, November 11, at I. O. O. F. hall in Saunders' block. E. Alonzo Blood of Townsend, who was their deputy, with his wife, together with the members of Middlesex Rebekah lodge of Groton, accepted the invitation extended to them. The regular business was carried forward followed by a reception to the past noble grands. It is a noteworthy fact that every past noble grand is living. Miss Adele Boynton gave an agreeable piano selection followed by a most pleasing concert by the Verdi male quartet and Miss Jessie Bell Lewis, reader. The talent came from Worcester.

The entertainment all repaired to the banquet hall and stood where the quartet chanted the lord's prayer. The most noticeable table in the room was the charter members, decorated in pink and green, and an immense five lighted candles, at the top of eight charter members, all that could be present, as some of the members are living entirely out of New England.

The entire evening was replete with pleasant recollections. The first child born to any of the sisters was Miss Gladys Shattuck of this lodge. After hours filled with joy, possibly the most impressive thing of the entire evening was the closing number, rendered by the quartet, "Silver threads rendered by the gold," in so touching a manner that from then on it had a new significance.

HARVARD.

Congregational Church Notes. The theme of the pastor's sermon at the Congregational church on Sunday morning will be "Every man his price." After this service the Bible school will meet as usual in the vestry.

Mrs. E. F. Houghton will have charge of the C. E. prayer meeting Sunday evening. The subject will be "Temperance facts and figures."

On Sunday morning at the Bible school session the usual annual distribution of bags and works for contributions for the work of the Little Wanderer's home will be made. It is hoped that parents will be interested with their children in this worthy cause.

The Woman's Benevolent society held its fortnightly meeting on Tuesday afternoon. The usual good attendance of recent months was kept up and further preparations were made for the coming annual fair.

The Women's Missionary society held their regular monthly meeting with Miss S. A. Davis on Thursday afternoon.

The Ayer Woman's club will give a pop concert in town hall, Ayer, on Friday evening, November 19. Admission 25 cents.

TWO RIVAL SYSTEMS

By EDNA WARFIELD

Mr. Penfield was the proprietor and editor of a newspaper called the Union. He had his own notions as to how a newspaper should be conducted.

His plan was to please as many persons as possible. Miss Williams was a "new woman" who was supporting herself by teaching. Mr. Penfield and her were attracted to her largely on account of her force of character and intellectual abilities. Miss Williams was attracted to Mr. Penfield largely on account of admiration for a man in power, for he was a man of authority, having under him subeditors, clerks, printers, etc.

There are many kinds of newspapers as there are kinds of men. Mr. Penfield's policy was with a view to making his paper pay or what he considered the best method of making it pay. Miss Williams' idea of a newspaper was an intellectual engine to mold opinion. That is what she supposed Mr. Penfield's paper to be, because she supposed that to be what newspapers are for. They became engaged.

One of the triumphs of the Union was the election of the governor of the state, for it was generally conceded that the paper's brilliant advocacy of the governor's side and stinging condemnation of his opponent and his principles had secured the election. But when the campaign was over the Union returned to its independence, which meant that it was at liberty to please the greatest number, thereby securing the greatest circulation and consequently the greatest income from advertisements.

A question of moment came up. In which the governor took a decided stand. It was supported by many and opposed by an equal number. Miss Williams supposed that her lover would stand by the man if he thought him right and oppose him if he thought him wrong. One day an editorial appeared in the Union, written in the style of the editor in chief. It read as follows:

It is perhaps too early to discover whether the governor has acted wisely in the matter or whether he has been influenced by the highest motives, though there are those who will deny this, considering that his object is to fill his pockets. Even these will admit that his previous record has been free from making money by virtue of the official position he has held. There is but one charge against him that has never been satisfactorily answered, and this is balanced by many acts that have redounded to the welfare of the state. Those who support the governor's policy have the satisfaction of knowing that in the many important political questions with which he has been identified he has usually been right. Only in two cases has he been wrong.

When Miss Williams read this leader the blood came into her cheek and an ominous light flashed in her eye. Was this molding public opinion? She had not informed herself of the matter in question and, having no opinion on it, was free to be influenced by the man whose intellectual strength had won her. Great was her disappointment. Later in the day she took up the Sentinel, a paper that had bitterly opposed the governor's election, and read in an article a clear, logical argument as to why the governor was right on the question at issue and calling on all good citizens to support him.

That evening when Mr. Penfield called on his fiancée he found that she had gone to spend the evening with an aunt. Since she left no message for him he was baffled and did not call again for a week. Two days after his article on the governor's policy an editorial appeared in the Bee under the head of "On Both Sides of the Fence," quoting from his own editorial and comparing it with the one on the same subject in the Sentinel.

Never had Mr. Penfield seen himself so ridiculed in the columns of any of his competitors. So stinging were many of the phrases used that everybody would say: "That's the painful-est sting the Bee ever gave. Ha, ha!" Inquiries were made at the Bee office as to who wrote the article, but no information on the subject was given out. Mr. Penfield was not seriously troubled about the article. He had his policy and considered it the only policy on which a newspaper should be run, but he began to feel uneasy about his fiancée. He expected to meet her casually, but did not.

One morning the Bee appeared in a new dress, and the first article on the editorial page was an announcement that Miss Elizabeth Williams had bought the paper and would thenceforward be the editor in chief.

When Mr. Penfield saw this announcement a light was turned on in his brain that revealed several things. He knew that by his attempt to please everybody he had disgusted his fiancée. He knew that Miss Williams had written the article ridiculing him in the Bee. And he was destined to learn that there were more ways than one of running a newspaper. When Mr. Penfield met Miss Williams again neither of them referred to their past relation; they met as proprietors and managers of two different newspapers. The editor addressed a policy of not troubling her readers with her own opinions; but when she did it was after mature consideration and investigation, and it usually turned out in the end that she was right. She gradually drew away from her rival and former fiancée, though both were successful under their own peculiar methods.
